WESTMINSTER WORTHIES.

THE Westminster Gazette a few weeks ago devoted a few paragraphs to the above subject. In the first of these it was said that 'a recent compiler of statistics' had, as the result of his researches, arrived at the conclusion that Westminster, though 'the smallest of our historic Public Schools,' had produced the greatest aggregate of distinguished men. This statement was followed by the remark that a cursory glance at the 'Dictionary of National Biography' had confirmed the writer's belief in this conclusion. The present article is the outcome of a rather more than cursory glance at the same work. We are not without hope that future editors may find either time or contributors to continue the work which we here begin, but even if the project be carried no further, this instalment cannot be without interest. Indeed, if we consider it as a typical extract from the complete list, we can draw several conclusions from it.

The first question which occurs to us is the dates at which the alumni were at Westminster. We find that the 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th centuries claim 2, 6, 10 and 5 respectively; this, we venture to think, is a very fair approximation to the ratios which the complete list would yield. The next question is the lines of distinction; and we may here remark that we have been in fear and trembling lest the Dictionary, which professes to include notorious as well as famous men, should reveal some Westminster highwayman or kindred spirit. The Church has always drawn a large number of her distinguished sons from Westminster, and we are not surprised that of the twenty-three, six are divines. Three followed the vocation of Dryden and Cowper, and two are classed as mathematicians.

It has been pointed out that the existence of such a work as Welch's 'Alumni Westmonasteriensis' is in a large degree responsible for the fact that so many O.W.W. can be identified in the pages of the Dictionary. This is no doubt true; but it only increases our indebtedness to the compiler of that work, and in no way detracts from the glorious roll of which we proceed to give the first portion.

It is almost needless to say that any additions or corrections from correspondents will be welcomed:—

HALL EPIGRAMS.

Election Dinner was this year again 'Up School'; last year's precedent is evidently to become permanent. Owing, we suppose, to Dr. Rutherford's resignation, there was an extraordinarily large attendance, numbering upwards of 140. Many more accepted but remained away.

As for the epigrams, we cannot help remarking the lamentable increase of the English element and the consequent decrease of neatness and literary merit. This stigma does not apply to:—

Nil interit.

Concidit illa manus scepro inveterata tenendo :
Amissam pietas publica jure dolet.
Nescia sed damni Maiestas Regia prodit,
Per varias eadem continuata vices.

The punning fiend was worthily represented by:—

Nil interit.

If nothing ever dies, how comes it true,
Last year we'd four blues, this year only two?
The Moon goes down, the Fisher takes his hook:
Yet, if you well into the matter look,
The saying's true. For, last year we had four—
This year (not counting Blaker) we've still More.

The best 'auctore' was without doubt:—

Σπεῖδε βραδέως.

The Honourable Algernon St. John de Vaux
As a paradox queer may be class'd:
For though in his dressing he's terribly slow,
In his dress he's as terribly fast.

We quote the following, trusting that none of our readers are possessed of the name of Jones:—

Nihil interit.

Jones is a stout man. Stout? Why he Points can concede to any pouter:
And as the years roll on, you see,
He is not merely stout, but stouter;
Well may he heave a gentle sigh:
For 'Corporations never die.'

The following chestnut was thoroughly appreciated:—

Nil interit.

Σπεῖδε βραδέως.

The South-Eastern Railway, beyond any doubt,
The truth of both maxims endeavours to show;
For its obsolete rolling stock never wears out,
And its fastest expresses are terribly slow.

As also this seasonable farewell to the headmaster:—

Nihil interit.

Sole sub ardentis messor cum stringit aristas, exhaurit vires corporis ille labor:
at simul idem oculis sua perlegit horrea, vires in coacervatis gaudet inesse suas.

Haec ita vita hominumst; ita tu, venerande Magister, in nobis vires vivere crede tuas.

Nunc discessurum studioque fideque coacti prosequimur votis prosequimurque prece.

Rideat alma Salus, o si modo rideat, ut se mendarum immunem iacet Aristophanes;

ut te iam meritum post tantas otia curas oblectamentis vita quietata beet;

ut lare sub caro seu dulci stratus in horto laetus cum laetis luce fruare tuis; ut desiderium turbae compenset amicae, quamvis ipse absit, scire valere suum.

Haec tibi ut evadant reducemque Ecclesia poscat—nec sibi enim in tantum qui bene faxit habet—nullis non votis cupimus, vir care, teneri:

votorum nobis det Deus esse reos.

We live in hopes that the whirligig of time may once more give Latin and Greek their former ascendency.

A TESTIMONIAL TO THE HEADMASTER.

[We are indebted to Mr. R. J. Mure for the following Minutes.]

Meeting, 'Up School,' June 6, 1901, held to consider a testimonial to the Headmaster, Dr. Rutherford, on his retirement.

Sir CLEMENTS MARKHAM, K.C.B., was voted to the chair.

Proposed by Mr. REGINALD J. MURE, and seconded
by the Right Hon. JAMES LOWTHER, M.P. :—

1. That in recognition of Dr. Rutherford's long and valuable services at Westminster, and his untiring devotion to the School, a subscription be set on foot amongst Old Westminsters and others interested in the matter, and that the proceeds of such subscription be expended at the discretion of a Committee hereafter to be appointed.

2. That a Committee, consisting of the undermentioned names, be hereby appointed to carry out the preceding resolution, with power to delegate their functions to an executive sub-committee, and to add to their number.

These two resolutions were carried nem. con.

Some discussion then arose, and a division was taken by the Chairman on the question whether a portrait of Dr. Rutherford should be recommended to the Committee as one of the objects to which the subscription might be devoted. This was decided in the affirmative by 23 to 17, and it was proposed by Mr. ARTHUR HILMAN, and seconded by Mr. CHARLES
L. EASTLAKE :—

3. That the Committee be requested to consider a personal gift to Dr. Rutherford to be a primary object of the testimonial, and that the other objects to be considered should be a portrait, or anything of permanent benefit to the School.

Carried nem. con.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman.

The General Committee met on June 25, when the above motions were amplified and passed on to an Executive Committee then constituted.

School Notes.

It must be a cause of great pleasure to Westminsters that after an interval of seventy years the Crown has returned to the ancient usage of appointing a Westminster to the Deanery of Christ Church. Mr. Strong was admitted to the School in 1873, and elected to Oxford in 1879. He has been a Student of the House since 1887. He was Bampton Lecturer in 1895 and has been for some years Examining Chaplain to the Bishop of Durham. His work in theology is well known. He was a representative of Christ Church on our Governing Body, of which he now becomes a member ex officio. Mr. Strong is the seventeenth Westminister to hold the Deanery. Like Dr. Lewis Bagot, appointed in 1777 and afterwards Bishop of Norwich, Mr. Strong spent all his years at Westminster as a Town Boy.

We hear that the tutorship thus left vacant at Christ Church is to be filled, temporarily at least, by Mr. C. D. Fisher (O.W.).

The Elizabethan Club will hold their annual dinner in College Hall on July 11.

Our congratulations are due to S. A. Sydney-Turner (O.W.), on gaining a first class in part 1 of the Classical Tripos at Cambridge.

The Phillimore Prize for an English Essay on the thesis 'Tennyson's use of metaphor in "In Memoriam"' has been accorded to W. T. S. Sonnenschein. The essays sent in by T. B. Whitmore and C. B. H. Knight were considered worthy of mention.

We are asked to give notice that any Westminsters going up to Edinburgh University will find it advantageous to join the Edinburgh University English Public Schools Club, one of whose objects is 'to afford information to freshmen coming from English Public Schools.' Applications to be made to the Hon. Secretary. The annual subscription is five shillings.

We have also been asked to state that the Vanity Fair cartoon of Dr. Rutherford is still to be obtained from the publishers, price 1s. 1d., post free; address, 7 Essex Street, Strand.

THE FIELDS.

WESTMINSTER v. WEST KENT.

This match was played 'Up Fields' on May 25th, and after an interesting game West Kent won by 6 runs. The School started badly, Harrison being bowled before a run was scored. Blane and F. Logan took the score to 38, of which Blane scored 36. His runs—including one 5 and five 4's—were mostly made on the leg side. Logan had been in forty minutes when Tate took his wicket. Greene was next out to the fast bowler; his innings was a very steady one, although it included a 6. Page should have been run out early in his innings, but otherwise he gave no chance. H. Logan's 24 was short and very hard hit. The side were out by 3.15.

Roberts clean bowled C. Watney in his first over; Inman was out to Knight 30 runs later; Cornwallis, Carroll, and A. N. Watney went out in quick succession; and with five wickets down for 71 the match seemed to be in our hands, but Adair-Thompson and Tate quite altered the position. They took the score to 140, when Adair-Thompson was well caught at extra cover for a most useful, though lucky, 52. Tate evidently did not like fast bowling, though he had been playing Roberts for some time before he was caught in the slips off him. The two substitutes, Willett and Powers, were now together, and, chiefly owing to Willett's good batting, raised the score to 172 before Powers was easily stumped. Hawksley tried to hit Law, but missed him completely; when he was bowled three more runs were wanted. These were secured in byes, and then Waring was bowled by Logan five runs later. Willett had won the match by his steady defence.

WESTMINSTER v. ETON RAMBLERS.

This match, played 'Up Fields' on Wednesday, May 22, resulted in a defeat for the School by five wickets and 82 runs. Willett took Colt-Williams's place in the School eleven. On our winning the toss, Blane and J. Logan faced Payne-Gallwey and Bromley-Davenport. The start was disastrous, as after Blane had played a maiden over of Bromley-Davenport's, in which four byes were scored, Logan was bowled by Payne-Gallwey without scoring. Harrison came in, and the score mounted rapidly to 23, mostly owing to Blane, who swept them round to leg repeatedly, when Harrison played on. He had given a hard chance to Payne-Gallwey at point and another at the wicket. Greene stayed while twelve were added, when he was caught without having scored, though he made some nice strokes, which all went to the fieldsmen. Page now joined Blane, and a good stand was effected, both batsmen scoring freely, till at 92 Page was bowled for a most useful and serviceable 22, which included three 4's and two 3's. Undoubtedly he is the most improved bat of this season. Cleveland-Stevens, after hitting a 3, was caught at slip in the endeavour to cut a slow. Blane reached his 50 in the last over before lunch, when the score was 113 for five.

Not long after the interval Blane was caught at square-leg off a 'skier' in attempting once too often his favourite sweep to leg. He had been batting one hour and forty minutes, and hit two 5's and seven 4's. Most of his runs were scored on the leg side, and his innings was a most invaluable effort. No one else offered much resistance, and the innings closed for 180 — a poor score on such a good wicket, especially when the extras numbered 43. Eton Ramblers began badly, losing Fisher-Rowe, who was clean bowled by Roberts's second ball. The same bowler might have caught and bowled Hoare when 1, but he only reached the ball at the half volley. Bromley-Davenport and Hoare then commenced to score rapidly, the former making some big, albeit risky, hits. In forty minutes he reached 50, but after adding 5 was bowled by Greene; he hit eleven 4's. He might have been caught in the deep off Knight when 9, but Roberts, with the sun in his eyes, misjudged the ball. Gosling and Hoare put on 72 by good cricket, when Hoare was easily stumped. His excellent 61 contained nine 4's. Only Lane-Fox gave Gosling much assistance, and when time was called seven wickets were down for 262, Gosling carrying out his bat for a splendid innings of 82. Towards the end of his innings he was badly missed in the deep by Roberts off Knight; he hit eight 4's. Law was the most successful bowler, getting three for 58. Score:—

WESTMINSTER v. KENSINGTON PARK.

This match was played on Saturday, June 1, in dull and cold weather, and resulted in an ignominious defeat for the School by three wickets and 163 runs. The School team differed in one instance from that defeated by the Eton Ramblers on the previous Wednesday, Parker, who replaced Willet, being tried for his bowling. Cleveland-Stevens again won the toss, and at 12.5 Blane and H. Logan started the School innings to the bowling of Wynne and H. D. Nicholas. In the former's first over Blane was badly missed at slip by H. D. Nicholas, and in his next over the same fieldsmen gave H. Logan a life in the same place, though this time the chance was more difficult. Blane was soon out for 7, being caught off a 'skier' at square leg in trying his favourite stroke, the sweep to leg. J. M. Logan then joined his brother, who continued to monopolise the scoring, making some beautiful drives; but at 62 he was bowled for 41. Besides the one chance mentioned he should have been stumped three times, but it was a good and useful innings. Page followed, but after making 1, was given out l.b.w. Greene came in, but soon lost J. Logan, who was bowled in an endeavour to hit one from Abney. He had made some good strokes in his 20, but could have got more runs if he had been a little smarter. Greene and Harrison were together at lunch, not out 21 and 6 respectively, and the score was 100 for 4.

On resuming, a sudden and inexplicable collapse occurred. Harrison returned one weakly to the bowler, Cleveland-Stevens was well caught off a big hit, and Knight, Roberts and Law were dismissed without scoring. Parker scored 1 and was then caught, and Greene, who could get no one to stay with him, was left to carry out his bat for 28. He played excellently, but was occasionally puzzled by Nicholas's slows. Abney bowled well, getting five wickets for 24, and Nicholas four for 40, but the School tail was again in evidence.

Kensington Park began their innings at 3.5 with Donaldson and Conyers—the latter the champion pole-jumper of Australia. Roberts and Law bowled, and both batsmen scored freely, 35 going up in twenty minutes, when Parker, who had relieved Roberts in his second over, clean bowled Conyers and his successor, Surtees, with consecutive balls. H. D. Nicholas joined Donaldson, and a good stand was made. Knight relieved Law, and later Greene relieved Parker, but with no success. Fifty went up in forty minutes, but then J. Logan, who had relieved Knight, got Nicholas stumped rather unluckily, the ball rebounding off Harrison's pads into the wicket. The third wicket fell at 83, 48 having been added. Nicholas had contributed 20, mostly composed of singles. Reynolds did not stay long, being well caught at third man by Knight. All this time Donaldson had been playing a beautiful game, but with the advent of M. A. Nicholas he went in more for hitting and made some very big strokes. Nor was his partner idle, and aided by some indifferent fielding the two put on 104 runs for the fifth wicket, when Donaldson's long innings was brought to a close by a splendid catch in the deep by Parker off Law. This magnificent 138, made without the semblance of a chance, had taken him two hours and thirty-five minutes to compile; he hit two 5's, thirteen 4's. Nicholas was soon afterwards bowled by a good ball from Cleveland-Stevens for 33, and time was called with Conyers and Abney not out 16 and 12 respectively. The School fielding was not at all good, Roberts, who was ill, being the worst offender. Score :—

WESTMINSTER v. I ZINGARI.

I Zingari brought down a strong team against the School on Saturday, June 8, and won very decisively. The School were handicapped by Law's absence. Webbe won the toss, and at 11.50 went to the wickets with Cobb. Off Roberts's first over, Greene missed an easy catch at point; Cobb, thus let off, hit very hard before he was bowled by Knight. Macpherson came next, and though he scored chiefly by singles, stayed with Webbe, who was making some beautiful cuts, till 1.33. He should have been caught off both the balls preceding the one with which Blane bowled him. Webbe scored very fast, and by lunch had made 80. On resuming the game he only added 7 runs before being caught by Greene. Goodden was well run out when trying to steal a fifth run for a cut off Roberts. In the next over, Knight, who had been bowling a beautiful length all the morning, clean bowled Mordaunt and Arbuthnot with successive balls. The 200 went up at 3 o'clock, and ten minutes later Knight completely beat Lambton; he met with further success in his next over, Lane-Fox being his sixth victim. At 3.45 the innings was declared, Gore and Phipps-Hornby being 17 and 31 not out respectively. At 4 o'clock H. Logan and Blane went in, and by 5.20 we were all out. Macpherson did what he liked with most of the team, his lobs being quite unplayable by them. Nine wickets were down for 33, when Page and Roberts got together, and by their plucky stand took the score from 33 to 99. Roberts, who had no fear of the lobbs, scored fast; he ended his most praiseworthy effort with four 4's off Macpherson. Parker played carefully, and did well in staying at the wickets without giving a chance. Page was bowled by Macpherson after he had made 45. His steady innings had been invaluable; the vigour with which he punished the loose balls made it still more pleasant to watch. Macpherson's eight wickets had cost 68 runs.

The School had about twenty minutes batting in the second innings. Crowe, who had been unluckily run out in the first innings, was caught in trying to turn a straight ball. Blane managed to make 13 before being caught at the wicket. Logan and Greene went out very quickly, though there did not seem to be much sting in the bowling of Goodden or Gore.

House Notes.

COLLEGE.—It is with great pleasure that we see Harrison, Roberts and Law playing against Charterhouse; the last-named we also congratulate on his Pink-and-Whites. The terminal Chess Club Competition has reached the eighth round, thanks to the energy of its Secretary. In the Literary Society we have read 'The Rivals' since the May number and are in the middle of 'Romeo and Juliet.' Mr. Sargeant was superb as Sir Anthony Absolute in the former play. We congratulate S. A. Sydney-Turner (O.W.) on his first class in the Cambridge Tripos, and C. D. Fisher (O.W.) on being appointed Tutor pro tem. at Christ Church. We have been singularly successful in the Junior House matches, and hope to be still more so.

GRANT'S.—We have to heartily congratulate J. P. Blane, and the brothers Logan on playing against Charterhouse, which, with Cleveland-Stevens (Captain), brings the number of Grantites playing up to four. With the help of these and the other valuable House-colours we are confident of keeping the Shield for another year. Our Juniors have been disappointing, as we have lost to H.B.B. and are in the midst of a very even game with College. We should, however, win the remaining matches. In first-class cricket Old Grantites have been represented by L. J. Moon (Middlesex) and H. S. Bompas (A. J. Webbe's XI., Cambridge University and London County). J. Logan has been distinguishing himself in the exact: he made top score (27) for Leicestershire 2nd XI. v. Nottinghamshire 2nd XI. E. C. Cleveland-Stevens and J. E. Y. Radcliffe have been up to Oxford after a History Scholarship, and we have to wish S. A. Dickson the best of luck in his coming exam. We are glad to see M. C. Smith back amongst us again, and to welcome Niss as a boarder. We congratulate W. P. S. Sonnenschein on gaining the Phillimore English Essay Prize.

RIGAUD'S.—Our notes this month are mainly concerned with O.W.W. Congratulations to R. E. More on his fine performances for Middlesex; we are glad to see that both he and R. N. R. Blaker are again playing in the Inter-Varsity match. Our Juniors have not been as successful as might have been desired so far, not having yet won a match; we fear our Senior team is no more certain of victory. We congratulate C. M. Page on his Pink-and-Whites and regular appearance in the team, and also, with C. Powers, on being selected to represent the School against Charterhouse. The money left from the unfinished yard ties of last term has been expended in the purchase of yard balls to the satisfaction of all interested or concerned.

H.B.B.—Little has happened during the past month to attract attention. In the Juniors we defeated Grant's by three wickets. For us Napier played a splendid second innings of 69, and it is largely to him that we owe the victory. M. Macdonald made two useful scores, and he and J. C. Vernon bowled well; but there is room for improvement in our fielding. At the time of writing we are 30 runs ahead and eight wickets to fall in the match v. Junior Rigaud's. Our batting was not good, M. Macdonald making 44 out of 67. Again he and J. C. Vernon bowled well, getting Rigaud's out for 47. We have now reached the semi-final round of our Fives Ties, but we hope that they will have been brought to a conclusion before going to press. We congratulate J. B. Whitmore and C. B. H. Knight on their commendation in the Phillimore Essay.

ASHBURNHAM.—We have but few events to record since last number. We congratulate W. Parker on appearing for the School against Kensington Park and I Zingari. We are very glad to hear that Greene has been included in the team to oppose Charterhouse. It seems that we shall have to part with our Junior Cup, as our team was badly-beaten by College.

Marriages.

BEDFORD.—On June 18th, Edwin Curtis Bedford, Rector of St. Andrew's, Holborn, and eldest son of the late Edwin Bedford, of Ladbroke Terrace, to Margaret Augusta, second daughter of Thomas Henry Wyatt, of Weston Corbett, Hants.

HILL.—On June 22nd, Henry Staveley Hill, only son of the Right Hon. Alexander Staveley Hill, of Oxley Manor, to Eileen de Grey, daughter of Mr. De Burgh D'Arcy.

Obituary.

We regret to hear that there has been received from Australia news of the death of CHARLES JOHN MACDONALD FOX, one of the best known of Westminster athletes. Born in 1858, he was at the School from 1870 to 1876. In the last year he played cricket for Surrey, and afterwards for Kent. One year he was, we believe, at the head of the batting averages of England. He was equally distinguished on the football field, being in his day one of the best of full backs.

We have also to regret the death of a younger Westminster, BASIL MAUGHAN. He was the eldest son of Mr. Henry G. R. Maughan, and was admitted in September, 1889, at the age of twelve. He left in 1895 and went into business. He had been ill for nearly two years, and bore great suffering with a fortitude which moved the admiration of the doctors who attended him. Such is indeed the true ancient spirit of Westminster.

We omitted to record last term the death of another constant Westminster, ARCHIBALD HENRY SPENCER COOPER, of Springfield, Flintshire. He was admitted in 1864, at the age of thirteen, and became a Bishop's Boy. He married in 1875 a daughter of Commander Wylde, R.N., and his younger son was lately a Rigaudite. Mr. Cooper died on February 6th.

Reviews.

Our Public Schools: Their Influence on English History. By J. G. Cotton Minchin. Swan Sonnenschein & Co.

In this age of literary superabundance our Public Schools have not been neglected. The last few years have seen two whole series and many isolated volumes devoted to this subject. Among the latter must be included the present work. Of some 400 pages, fifty are devoted to Westminster, and it is, of course, chiefly these with which we are here concerned.

The author adheres closely to the aspect of the subject which is indicated in the sub-title. But otherwise he allows himself the utmost freedom, and the reader is led rapidly through a maze of facts, anecdotes, and comments. These are interesting and well chosen, but we think a little more careful arrangement would have rendered them easier to digest. Few Westminsters, however, could read these fifty pages without learning something new, and few outsiders could peruse them without being convinced that Westminster at least has had an 'influence on English history.' A few mistakes are made, as indeed is almost inevitable when one writer deals with many schools. 'Up School' is referred to as 'School,' and the names there inscribed are said to be put up as an appreciation of, and not at the whim of, their owners. We can, however, recommend everybody interested in the School to read this account of what is perhaps the most interesting phase of Westminster's life.
