DAT DEUS INCREMENTUM

THE ADMIRALTY has decided to use silicone-insulated cables for electrical wiring on future H.M. ships. And not without reason. This silicone insulation is not only fire-resistant, but withstands intense heat and cold, damp and contamination by many chemicals.

First in the field of British silicones is a member of the Albright & Wilson Group, Midland Silicones Ltd. Operating from a plant at Barry in Wales—the largest silicone plant in Europe—this company now has over ten years' experience behind it in the development and production of silicones for a wide range of industries. These products include rubbers and insulants, damping fluids, water repellents, anti-foaming and release agents, greases and lubricants.

Close collaboration between Albright & Wilson and the Dow Corning Corporation of America, pioneers in the silicone field, ensures that the users of silicones—through Midland Silicones Ltd.—will benefit from the research and technical progress on both sides of the Atlantic.

SUMMER 1959: No. 2

ISSUE No. 633

THE PRINTING DISPUTE

In apologizing to all Old Westminsterers for the lateness of this issue, and to those at Westminster who may not be aware that the printing dispute affected The Elizabethan also, we would only like to mention that the loss of the usual front cover in our other issue of the term was unavoidable and that we have been compelled to postpone some Old Westminster news until the publication of the November issue. Otherwise, little has had to be changed, excluded or modified.

SCHOOL

It is now three years since a school play was last performed; and in that space of time there has grown up a generation that knew not The Cherry Orchard, nor, in a more general sense, the value of School for all plays, concerts and other formal occasions. If this were the only trouble, the use of School this term for the Music Competitions and for the first performance of A Midsummer Night's Dream would serve as a prelude for its more widespread use in the ensuing years. And regrettable though the three years' gap might have been, and undoubtedly was, time would heal all and School revert to its normal position in Westminster life.

In fact, the value of School had not been so immediately apparent for several years before its closure. Concerts and plays, whether by Busby's or by the school as a whole, happen but rarely in the nature of things, and for the rest of the school year virtually its only function was to house the school for Assembly and Latin Prayers. It may, of course, be argued that excessive use could only result in a depreciation of its value: but it is equally contestable that Westminster saw School just enough times, on Monday and Wednesday afternoons, to accept it in a blasé fashion without at the same time seeing it continually enough to make it for them the centre round which the school should revolve.

Within the existing limits much can be achieved. Granted that the new School is such an acoustic improvement, surely it can cater for more musical occasions than the termly concert. A case might also be made out for its housing of the Art Competitions. More important, perhaps, the number of plays performed there could be substantially increased. At King's School, Canterbury, for instance, each house produces a play a year. The standard suffers slightly, it is true, if Canterbury is to be believed, and the project as a whole is probably not realizable at Westminster. Yet it is undeniable that the burden borne at present by Busby's should in future be assumed by not only the school as a whole, but by other houses or individual forms as well. All houses start off now with an equal inexperience of the large School stage. And so if a continuous dramatic tradition were established up School those who saw Chekhov three years ago might in three years time be able to see Montherlant, Shaw and Ibsen.

One could wish that School need only exist on these occasions. But it is equally likely that unless it is used, and not merely seen, every day it will once again become a form of museum. If nothing else were done, Latin Prayers might at least be said once each day, the system that obtained until the evacuation. This idea may not commend itself to the greater part of the school. Nevertheless, serious thought should be given to the problem while the novelty is still present. In all cases a tradition of usage must first be established before the spontaneity can follow. If the rebuilding of School, unquestionably one of the most important events at Westminster since the war, is allowed to decline in importance until it becomes merely a feat for visitors to admire, nothing will have been achieved.

And School will just be that place in which one takes 'O' Level in the summer or through which one goes to get from the Lecture Room to the Busby Library.

THE CLASSICAL SOCIETIES

The John Sargeant Society has met twice this term. On Monday, May 18th. the Society heard M. Hervy, who came in charge of our French visitors, give a talk on education in France. Although most of the talk was in rapid French, a great deal of knowledge was imparted nevertheless. M. Hervy carefully compared various stages of French and English education, with particular reference to the Classics. It was generally felt that although the French system covered a wide ground, it did so rather too formally for our taste.

On Monday, June 22nd. H. Lloyd-Jones, Esq., Fellow of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, addressed the Society on the newly-discovered play of Menander, the "Dyskolos" or "Misanthropic Man". Starting with a few scathing comments on M. Martin's text, he talked enjoyably and interestingly about the manuscript and the problems connected with it. He then gave a résumé of the plot, in which after many incidents Sostratus, a rich young townsman, marries the daughter of the misanthropic, country-dwelling Cnemon and the latter is cured (partly by falling in a well) of his bitterness. Mr Lloyd-Jones also considered the literary merits of the play (it represents Menander's early and immature style) and its influence upon the intellectual climate of the Hellenistic Greece in which it was written.

The committee of the Junior Classical Society decided at the end of last term that, as it is intended to be an active society, it would be well to cater for a wider range of interests than it had done up to that time. The members of the committee therefore agreed to separate into twos or threes and organize small groups with various subjects of interest to non-classicists as well as to classicists. Of the five groups formed, the first is conducting research into Old Persian, which is very closely akin to Sanskrit, the forerunner of modern Hindu. The talk which this group will give to the rest of the society will touch on the cuneiform script, the language of the Ancient Persians and their moral and political ideas, as well as providing an historical background.

The Dramatic and Literary section is giving a performance of the Phormio by Terence in translation. It will probably take place near the end of the Play Term. The Music section is composing some incidental music to be played between the scenes of the Phormio. It is also considering setting to music Virgil's third Eclogue on the Pervigilium Veneris. The modelling section is constructing a model of a Roman fort and hopes later to make models of Greek ships. And finally, the Archeological section is conducting some research on Roman Architecture in Britain and hopes to make an expedition to Verulamium soon.

POL. AND LIT. SOC.

When the April Elizabethan went to press there were still two more meetings that term to come. Sir Herbert Read's talk to the society on Cezanne and the earlier stages of cubism, which was drawn from a forthcoming book of his, was forcefully intellectual, but perhaps contained some loose terminology his personal interpretation of which he never quite communicated to the society. Mr. Edwin M. Martin, who came to speak on April 1st., addressed the society on the subject of Anglo-American relations: the Economic Minister of the U.S. Embassy's talk was characterized by its clear presentation of the facts and by the speaker's complete knowledge of his subject.

The inactivity which appears to affect most societies in the Election Term affected also the Political and Literary Society. Nevertheless, Sir Charles Snow came to speak to it on June 29th. and reminded members of the many activities and interests which he possessed in addition to the writing of novels by comparing in detail the educational systems and facilities of three countries, the U.S.S.R., the U.S.A. and England. Sir Charles was content to outline the facts, but his interpretation of them came out strongly when he began to answer questions. Both America and Russia, he stated, believed in education more than did this country, though both undoubtedly possessed their faults, a lack of respect in the one for hard intellectual discipline as such, a lack of adaptability in the other. Why, for instance, did the U.S. have ten times more graduates in stage designing than the rest of the world?: why, equally, did all Russians who took university papers have to take a three-hour essay paper which could demand of potential specialists in the sciences a choice of two subjects, the one on Mayakovsky, the other on a single character in War and Peace? But in neither country would the abnormally small proportion of students who attend universities in England have been considered as anything less than ridiculous. This, the early specialization in most schools and the shorter course at English universities combined to produce an educated class which to Sir Charles seemed to exhaust itself intellectually in a very short time. In all he said, the existing system should be reconsidered as a whole.

(ii) The Election Term

THE WATER

THE two events for which the School entered in the Lent term were the Reading Head of the River race on March 14th, over three and a half miles long, and the School's Head of the River race on March 24th, of over one and a half miles. In both, the School's performance was marred by illness, and for the fifth year in succession the 1st VIII was deprived of one of its members.

The two crews entered for Reading were of a lower standard than last year and were unable to retain their position, but in the School's Head, although the 1st VIII dropped from 3rd to 9th, all the other crews improved on their positions of the previous year. Owing to a strong wind which blew several crews on to the starter's boat, the race was delayed after only twenty of the seventy-four crews had been started. As a result of this, the crews that started half an hour later had a slight advantage, but this should in no way detract from the performance of the Colts VIII, which won the Colts division for the third time since the race was instituted.

Before the beginning of the Election term, it was decided that the 1st VIII should not enter for the Vesta Dashes or for Chiswick Regatta since both come too early in the term to be of any use to a crew that still had a great deal of the basic principles to learn. The wisdom of this policy was proved at Walton Regatta, at which the 1st VIII drew Vesta R.C. in the Junior-Senior VIII's on Friday, June 5th. In spite of a strong headwind the crew managed to keep a good rhythm and considerable length for the first half of the course, but thenceforth Vesta steadily gained on the crew to win eventually by one length.

The 2nd VIII returned to school to find that it was due to race University College School within two weeks, hardly enough time for it to settle down to any fixed order; and this explains its defeat by a mediocre crew. But a vastly improved crew raced well against Chiswick 1st VIII to be beaten by three-quarters of a length. At Walton it drew St. Paul's 2nd VIII on the Friday evening, but was beaten in a good race by less than a length.

1st VIII.—Bow, W. L. Pavry; 2, J. A. Corcoran; 3, A. L. Vogel; 4, J. R. R. Ebsworth; 5, J. D.

Russell; 6, D. V. W. G. Franzini; 7, B. A. R. Dermott; str., D. W. M. Devereux; cox, E. L. Arnold.

2nd VIII.—Bow, J. V. Machin; 2, D. P. McKenzie; 3, C. Macfarlane; 4, A. J. Saunders; 5, C. R. Dutton; 6, D. C. McLardy; 7, M. R. Mackenzie; str., J. A. Chadwick; cox, A. C. Trist.

A. R. Aikman and H. R. Samuel have also rowed in the 2nd VIII.

SWIMMING

It became clear from the first event of the season—the Inter-House swimming competition—that the standard of swimming at Westminster had increased many-fold over that of two years ago. During the two days of competition Patrick (LL) equalled the old backstroke record (75.os.) and set up a new record for 100 yards freestyle (60.4s.) with Doxat (AHH), when they finished together in the final of that event; eventually Ashburnham won the points challenge cup after a tussle with Liddells, who were leading at one juncture. Meanwhile Doxat cut the breaststroke record (69.5s.) for the fourteenth time in four years and also knocked 10 per cent off the butterflystroke best time (66.os.)

The first match, unfortunately early in the term, was against St. Paul's the strongest London swimming school; before the relays we were level pegging with wins in the freestyle and breaststroke (Doxat), and dash freestyle (Patrick). but weariness due to the smallness of the team resulted in the loss of the relays and hence the match. The next event on the calendar was an under-18 and under-16 match versus Otter S.C. In the former we won every event: freestyle, breaststroke and individual medley (Doxat), and backstroke (Patrick) but the weakness of our second strings still gave us only a small lead before the relays whose loss once again turned this into a deficit. In the under-16 section MacManus (RR), Orr (BB), Scott (RR) and, more especially, Hogg (AHH) all showed promise and were equal on points with the opposition before the relay which was yet again lost. The latest match, against Alleyn's, saw us with an easily superior team, lose merely because of a disqualification for an early take-over in a relay we easily won. During the match M. D.

Brough (AHH) showed tennis had not unduly slowed his swimming, but Hogg and Gifkins (GG) were dissappointing in the diving, due undoubtedly to their inexperience. Doxat and Patrick won their events but Martin (LL) lost his rhythm—and his sense of direction.

With matches against St. Dunstons (a), King's, Canterbury (a), Merchant Taylors (a), Haberdashers (h), Forest (a) and the Old Westminster (h) prospects are bright despite early set-backs, with intensive training at Dolphin Square under Mr. Murray. Water-polo has been introduced into the training curriculum and will be incorporated in most forthcoming fixtures. The controversial "swimming standards" introduced this term have been highly successful, Liddells winning the cup (average 4.22 per boy) from GG (2.49) and AHH (2.24).

The following have swum for the School in senior and/or junior matches : C. Doxat, Patrick, Martin, Brough, M. D., Hogg, MacManus, Gifkins, Orr, Scott, Bottomley (GG), Brough, C. L. (AHH).

TENNIS

The tennis season started with the annual match against Queenswood. The girls were very steady and produced a surprisingly high standard of tennis. This, together with the fact that the majority of the school was watching produced a result of 5-4 in our favour : a not very satisfactory win ; Particularly it showed the great weakness of our third pair, who lost all three matches without putting up much resistance.

The next fixture was the first round of the Glanvill Cup. It was perhaps unfortunate that it should come so early in the season, when we had seen so little match practice. As usual it was a triangular event, each school pair playing the opposite pair in the other two schools. Westminster started off quite well, beating Hampton 3-0 ; but Harrow County also beat Hampton 3-0, and thus to get through to the next round we had to win against Harrow by at least 2-1. The score of 1-2 in their favour was unlucky : Westminster's first pair, Dearman and Orr, won fairly convincingly, but the other two pairs lost and gave the victory to Harrow.

The next match was against Eton (away). Westminster's 0-9 defeat by a side if not brilliant was good was a poor result due rather to lack of concentration in the Westminster team than to any superiority of theirs. After a two weeks' welcome rest from tennis matches, Westminster played Haileybury up Fields. This was perhaps the best match so far. The two sides were very evenly matched, except for our third pair, who appeared to be quite outclassed. At tea the score was 3-3, our first pair having won both their matches, the second pair one of them and the third pair having lost both theirs. The final round was continued after tea. Our third pair lost as expected to Haileybury's first pair but Brough and Machray beat their third in a very good game, the first set going to 12-10. The whole match thus depended upon the result of our first pair. At 5-4 Westminster had three set points, which they lost, and proceeded to lose also set and match. The result, due very much to lack of concentration, was not quite as good as might have been hoped ; and the epitaph : "We should have won, but . . .", though it might apply, is a pretty poor excuse.

In all, the first team's season has so far not produced terribly good results. But the first two pairs look as if they might produce some reasonable tennis in the latter half of the season. Unfortunately the same cannot be said of the third pair.

The 2nd. VI has played Eltham (away) on only two courts, which produced an equivocal score of 4½-4½. The lack of finality about this score arose from the fact that no game was continued beyond two sets. The VI, however is still very young, being composed of two colts pairs who have not played any colts matches as yet but who might provide a good basis for future years. And it is on these young players that the future rests.

CRICKET

With the season almost completed, it is encouraging that so many members of the team have been successful at various times, so that in not one match has Westminster been disgraced. The first three club matches were all encouraging and the match against the Household Brigade was won by a clear margin, owing to some fine bowling by Ledlie and a good opening stand. Previously against the Eton Ramblers Evans had scored a bold 72. The first school match against Radley was disappointing, ending in a tame draw after Westminster had been put into bat and had not scored fast enough to ensure a definite result. Nevertheless the two sides were evenly matched.

The two day fixture against Sherborne produced far better cricket; Broadhurst bowled accurately and consistently in the first innings to finish with 6 for 59, while in the second innings Myring was unlucky to miss a century while forcing the pace in a bid for victory.

The Lords and Commons were closely defeated in the fiftieth match between the two teams; Blaker played a stout innings. Against a strong M.C.C. side we could not expect much success: and this proved the case against top class opposition. After a good match against the Free Foresters, we approached the Lancing match hopefully. Though we started disastrously with 5 wickets down for 49 runs, the situation was redeemed by some very fine aggressive batting by Evans and Hornsby, followed after lunch by a thoroughly responsible innings by Alderson supported by Espenhahn. Unfortunately the bowling and fielding were not sufficient to win the match.

Despite this setback, the Tonbridge match produced a close victory. Westminster won the toss and batted first. Hall, who throughout the season has consistently produced good scores, again hit form with an excellent innings, which paved the way to our total of 176. Tonbridge began quickly and at 113 for 3 were well set. Two wickets then fell quickly and this position was consolidated by a successful change of bowling, in which Ledlie took three wickets to end the game, with Tonbridge only nine runs from victory. Broadhurst's bowling was continually accurate and the fielding was always good, with Medawar outstanding in the gully.

With only the Old Westminster and Charterhouse matches to follow, the team can expect two good games, for the team as a whole has been steadily improving. Perhaps the main reason for this is the fact that the team bats right down the order. Presbury, as a left hander, has added variety to the batting in addition to his natural ability. Hornsby's wicket-keeping has been reliable and his batting has improved with confidence. Hall, although inexperienced at the beginning of the season, has handled the captaincy capably. And the team will be largely unchanged next year.

NINETY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT

To be presented to the Annual General Meeting on Friday, 23rd October, 1959.

The General Committee presents its 95th Annual Report.

The Committee deeply regrets to record the death of the following members of the Club:—Rev. W. H. Aglionby, Rev. P. M. Bartlett, Rev. G. Beech, The Rt. Rev. G. K. A. Bell, C. M. D. Davis, J. D. H. Dickson, R. C. Dolbey, Rev. J. B. H. Evans, L. G. Fowler, B. Harding, P. B. Henderson, Group Captain J. A. H. Loudon, Maj. General A. A. McHardy, S. Nye, Rev. C. de M. Rudolf, R. L. Symmons and L. H. Whitlam-smith.

During the year seventy-five new members were elected and for the first time the membership of the Club exceeded 3,000. At 31st March 1959 the membership of the Club was 3,040.

At the Annual General Meeting of the Club held in the House of Lords on 17th October, 1958, Mr. W. E. Gerrish, O.B.E., was elected President of the Club in succession to Dr. G. R. Y. Radcliffe, D.C.L., Colonel Stuart Horner, C. M. O'Brien and Raymond Plummer were re-elected Chairman, Hon. Treasurer and Hon. Secretary respectively. G. U. Salvi (1919-23), F. B. Hooper (1926-31) and F. A. G. Rider (1938-43) were elected new members of the General Committee.

The Annual Dinner of the Club was held in the House of Commons, following the Annual General Meeting on 17th October 1958, and was attended by nearly 100 members. The retiring President, Dr. G. R. Y. Radcliffe, presided, and the guests included the Head Master, the Dean of Westminster and Assistant Masters.

At the Annual General Meeting of the Entertainments

Committee on 7th July 1958, N. P. Andrews, E. R. B. Graham and K. C. Keymer were re-elected Chairman, Hon. Secretary and Hon. Treasurer respectively.

The games Committee again reports a successful year of activity. At the Annual General Meeting N. P. Andrews, P. G. Whipp and W. J. Gerrish were re-elected Hon. Treasurer, Hon. Secretary and Assistant Hon. Secretary respectively.

The Old Westminster Football Club again enjoyed a successful season. Under the captaincy of I. A. Renny, the 1st XI, after defeating Old Aldenhamians and Old Foresters in the first and second rounds, for the second successive year reached the semi-final round of the Arthur Dunn Cup in which it was defeated by Old Brentwoods. The 1st XI (the joint holders) was also defeated in the second round of the A.F.A. Surrey Senior Cup, but was more successful in the A.F.A. Senior Cup, winning through the qualifying rounds and the first round proper before losing to Nottinghamshire in the second round. Of its 25 matches, the 1st XI won 19, drew 2 and lost 4, and the 2nd XI played 19 matches, winning 9, drawing 2 and losing 8.

The Cricket Club played 15 matches, of which 4 were won, 5 lost and 6 drawn. The Fortnight at Vincent Square again proved to be most enjoyable and successful. No centuries were scored this year, but a large number of members were among the runs and M. Hyam took 45 wickets for the Club during the season.

The Old Westminster Golfing Society held meetings during the year at Sudbrook Park, Woking and Royal Wimbledon Golf Clubs, and also entertained the School at Sudbrook Park in September. The Society was defeated by Felsted in the first round of the Halford Hewitt Cup at Deal.

The Elizabethan Boat Club again enjoyed a successful year and won the Pairs at the Metropolitan Regatta. For the first time the Club entered for the Fours Head of the River Race on the Tideway in October. R. D. E. Pope once again achieved international honours by rowing for England in the Coxswainless Fours at the 1958 British Empire and Commonwealth Games in Wales and won a Gold Medal. S. C. H. Douglas-Mann also represented England at the Empire Games, rowing in the Coxswainless Pairs and winning a Silver Medal. He also rowed bow in the winning Oxford crew in the 1959 Boat Race. S. R. M. Price again rowed in the Cambridge Trial Eights and stroked the Goldie crew in the Head of the River race at Putney.

The Shooting Club once again entered for the Veterans Shield during the National Rifle Association meeting at Bisley and is warmly to be congratulated on winning the Shield for the first time, scoring 236 out of a possible 250. In the individual Shoot Dr. E. H. Seward was placed third. In the Queen's Prize, Major N. McCaw, a former winner, also came third.

During the year the Old Westminster Fives Club again arranged a full fixture list of 15 matches against School and Old Boys sides and the Squash Rackets Club played 4 matches against Metropolitan and Old Boys teams.

In the Londonderry Cup the Squash Rackets Club was defeated by Old Brentwoods.

The Lawn Tennis Club entered for the D'Abernon Cup and was narrowly defeated by the Old Carthusians who went on to reach the Final. At Yachting Westminster was represented in the competition for the Bembridge Trophy for Public Schools Old Boys' sailing teams, but was defeated in the first round by Harrow.

By Order of the Committee,
R. PLUMMER,
Hon. Secretary.
