THE CRICKET SEASON OF 1906.

WITH Rawlings, last year's captain, once more in command, and Turner the most prominent player of the previous season still available, a fairly successful season was looked for. Nor were these hopes doomed to disappointment, for in spite of another defeat from our Carthusian rivals and an occasional disastrous collapse the XI. acquitted themselves with credit. The bowling was distinctly above the average for a school-side. Hepburn would at times bowl an unplayable ball, and, though erratic, could be relied on to maintain a good pace and persevere to the end. Wood bowled very steadily and improved much towards the end of the season; he has an easy action and can command a nice off-break when assisted in any way by the wicket; he should not attempt to become a fast bowler. Circuitt attempted to combine two types of bowling—fast-medium and leg breaks. He would do better to adopt one style and become either a fast bowler with an occasional slow ball, or a slow bowler with a fast one—against moderate club-bats, and in school matches he would find the latter style much the more effective; but unfortunately the high class of the opposing batsmen on Vincent Square makes this type of bowling rather disheartening to the school-boy. He must remember that bowlers require as much if not more practice than batsmen. Turner was successful at times but, as was only to be expected, rather expensive—his health was not of the best last term, and there was a consequent lack of life about his cricket. Rawlings and Reed bowled usefully without much sting.

Turning to the batting, Rawlings is to be congratulated on many fine innings. Against the R.M.A. he played particularly well, and showed promise of becoming quite first-class. He has many fine strokes, and with improved defence would be good enough for any cricket. Turner never found his form till late in the season, when he showed that his cricket was as sound as ever when his health allowed him to do himself justice. He lost confidence after a few failures, a failing which seemed to pervade the whole side, who were capable of playing much better cricket than was often the case. Reed looked like improving rapidly, and then fell off again. Gow is young and has plenty of cricket, but will never get many runs till he makes more use of his left leg. Heaton-Ellis was very disappointing. Johnson has no strokes, but played some useful innings late in the season. Birchall also lacks strokes, but has good defence, and played well at Charterhouse. Hepburn played several useful innings in unorthodox style. Wood has some good forcing strokes, and should improve. The fielding was, on the whole, fair, and good at Charterhouse, where fielding is easy, while Birchall kept wicket excellently throughout the season. Next year, with the majority of the side available, we may look forward, with increased experience and confidence, to a successful season; and signs are not wanting that better times are in store for Westminster cricket. Several promising juniors could be observed on Wednesday afternoons playing in form matches with a straight bat and off-side strokes, while the fielding and catching in these games was distinctly creditable, and in many cases very much above the average. We congratulate Home Boarders on their success in the household competition, and trust that this victory, the first for many years among the non-boarding houses, will help to foster in these houses that spirit of keenness and enthusiasm by which alone success in games is to be gained. Congratulations also to both T.BB. and K.SS. on the result of their annual match, in which both sides are entitled to equal credit, T.BB. winning a fine match by 2 wickets, thanks to an excellent stand by Turner and Harley, the latter playing particularly well.

HALL EPIGRAMS.

(Theses : 1. Quieta non movere.
2. ἄπορα πόριμος.)

THERE is not much to be said about the last budget of Hall Epigrams except that it contains some clever things, but is on the whole inferior to the best collections of recent years. The first of the two theses, 'Let sleeping dogs lie,' proved the more attractive and inspiring; while the second, 'Where there's a will, there's a way,' chiefly served as a peg for some particularly outrageous puns, e.g. :—

ἄπορα πόριμος

Left to England's dictation a powerless prey,
Since she'd fleets to back up her brave words,
It was rather surprising the Sultan gave way,
When he mainly relies upon Kurds.

The Chicago scandal suggested the following dialogue :—

Quieta non movere.

O caupo, esurio.—Bovina praesto est.—
Transatlantica?—Non nego.—Quiescat.

as well as some new versions of an old jest, one of which is decidedly ingenious :—

ἄπορα πόριμος.

'Unfit for human food,' they say?
'Inspectors all would ban it?'
'Can it be somehow made to pay?'
And echo answers, 'Can it.'

There were not many allusions to public affairs, and the Government escaped with the mildest of criticism. We were glad to hear that our rulers do not, or did not, mean to be hustled from behind :—

Quieta non movere.

Out in the cold for twenty lingering years!
At length the weathercock of fortune veers.
Why should we not be left in peace to taste
The sweets of office, free from worrying haste?
Passive resisters, active women, school,
Chinamen's slavery, Irishmen's Home Rule;
Rest, ardent spirits; in due time you'll see
How far our deeds and promises agree.

The 'hooting smelling motor doing forty miles an hour' came in for well-deserved vituperation; while among the minor nuisances of the day the female agitator once more served as a butt for some mild sarcasms. The 'auctore' epigrams were more or less querulous in tone, some complaining of slumbers rudely broken by the first bell or by an imaginary collapse of the dormitory roof, others of the difficulty of making epigrams :—

ἄπορα πόριμος!

One head, two theses, pen and ink—
Is that enough to make one think?

ἄπορα οὐ πόριμος.

I've tried to write an epigram
For quite a fortnight past;
But as I'm on the Modern Side
I give it up at last.

In the last instance we do not follow the argument, though we admire the author's pertinacity. A good epigram is in truth not an easy thing to write, for it is as much a product of chance as of skill, and if the ingenious thought and happy phrase do not come unbidden they can seldom be got by conscious effort. As for the masterpieces of the art, they are so rare that, to borrow the words of that famous Westminster, Dr. South, the perfect epigram is in its way as notable a performance as an epic poem.

SCHOOL EPIGRAMS.

(Theses : Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere causas.
Arms and the Man.)

THE increase in the number of Epigrams sent in, which was so noticeable last year, was well maintained on Election Tuesday. All the epigrams selected were well up to the usual standard, and our only cause for complaint was the superabundance of English and the regrettable absence of Latin and Greek. 'Arms and the Man' seemed to be the more popular of the two theses. The recent ragging case at Aldershot was treated as follows:—

Arms and the Man.

What now avail those ancient arms
The musket and the foil?
The British soldier only needs
Some jam and motor-oil.

and the same thesis produced the following:—

The other day I thought I'd win
A heavy stake at poker,
And skilfully I dealt myself
Four aces and a joker.
But though I thought I'd make it safe
Another man was 'cutter,
And he it was who swept the pool,
For he held—a six-shooter.

'Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere causas' gave opportunity for the following reference to the Charterhouse match:—

What Charterhouse man was the cause of our loss?
Which man could it be, tell me true, man?
The question, I think, would be better to ask
Not what man, nor which man, but Hooman.

while the victory of the Belgians at Henley was well treated with the same thesis:—

We've lost the Grand! see how the people stare
Who thought the tortoise always won the race—
And so he would in any other case—
This was a Belgian hare.

We conclude with a patriotic sentiment:—

Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere causas.

What buildings these that front my gaze,
What power hither sent 'em?
What deep design this pile to raise,
What was the incitementum?
Within the motto doubt allays—
'Dat deus incrementum.'

School Notes.

THERE are forty new boys this term.

The new King's Scholars were admitted up School on Thursday, September 27, by the Rev. Canon Duckworth, who delivered a brief address, in which he alluded to the late tercentenary of the birth of Busby, and read a most interesting extract, which we print elsewhere, from the pen of one of the great Doctor's pupils—Dr. South. The quotation had originally been made by Canon Henson, preaching from the Abbey pulpit on the previous Sunday.

The Mission offertory on the Festival of St. Michael and All Angels amounted to £3 17s. 7d.

Commemoration is not held this year.

We regret the loss of Mr. Sherwood, who has left us to assume the Headmastership of the South-Eastern College, Ramsgate, an honour on which we heartily congratulate him. We welcome three new masters this term—Messrs. Orr, Wootton and Forbes.

The Cadet Corps sent a half-company down to the Public Schools' Provisional Brigade Camp near Aldershot. We hope to publish an account in our next issue.

The Mure Scholarship has been won by A. E. F. Spencer; and the Gumbleton English Verse Prize by A. P. Waterfield. The subject was 'Summer.'

THE FIELDS.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. FREE FORESTERS.

THIS match was played at Vincent Square on July 4, and ended in a disastrous defeat for the School by over 200 runs. The School, batting first, crumpled up completely before the opponents' slow bowlers. Hepburn played a fine innings considering how handicapped he was with no one to stay with him. The visitors had a good batting side, and we were treated to a good day's leather-hunting, all of them save two running into double figures. Hepburn bowled best for the School, getting 5 wickets. On going in again the School showed up better against fast bowling, making 118 for 6 wickets. Gow played well for his 24 not out, while Johnson, Turner and Birchall also contributed.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. CRUSADERS.

This match was played up Fields on July 7, and resulted in a win for the visitors by 22 runs. The School, batting first, began with Edgar and Birchall, while Powers and Meakin took up the attack. The two batsmen settled down and batted steadily, Birchall getting most of the runs. With 28 on the board Edgar was bowled by Meakin, and was replaced by Gow. The latter started well, but was run out un- luckily through a misunderstanding. Johnson did not stay long, and was replaced by Rawlings with 47 on the board. Birchall and Rawlings made a fine stand, but the former was bowled by Meakin for a good 44 when the score was 103. Rawlings, scoring fast, was joined by Turner, but was unfortu- nately well stumped by Bompas in playing out to Stanfield. The remainder of the side only added 31, and the innings closed for 147. The Crusaders opened their innings with Stanfield and Blackett, while Hepburn and Wood took up the attack. Success attended the bowlers' efforts, for Blackett was bowled by Hepburn's second ball. Runs came slowly, and Reed replaced Hepburn and Circuit Wood. Reed bowled Bompas for 6, and on a second attack Hepburn bowled Stanfield. Meakin and Bolton then made a fine stand, and raised the hundred before the former was well stumped by Birchall off Turner. With Meakin out there was still hope for the School, but we were beaten before the next wicket fell, and the match ended tamely. Bolton played well for his 39, but Meakin was best for the visitors. Turner secured five wickets for 47. The School did better on the second innings, making 135 for five wickets.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. OLD CARTHUSIANS.

Rawlings won the toss and chose to bat on a good wicket. Birchall and Edgar started for the School against the bowling of Woodbridge (medium left) and Kemp Welch (fast right). The score was taken to 16, when Birchall was caught in the slips. Worlock then came in and soon settled down, but at 41 Edgar was bowled by a fast yorker. After this the scoring was fairly level, Rawlings being top scorer with 33. The School innings closed for 164. The visitors started badly, Wood getting two wickets off consecutive balls in his first over. Curwen then went in, and, aided by a lot of luck, the score gradually rose. Nine wickets were down for 127, and the School looked like winning; but Farquharson and Dixon took the score to 180, and the innings was not closed till 224 was on the board. This match provided one of the most exciting finishes of the season, and the School were distinctly unfortunate in being beaten. Wood took 4 wickets for 40, Hepburn 3 for 49, and Turner 3 for 44.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. O.W.W.

This match, played up Fields July 21, resulted in a creditable win for the School by exactly 100 runs. The School won the toss and sent in the usual pair, Birchall and Edgar, while the visitors began with Powers and Murray. The batsmen quickly got going, and raised 61 before Edgar was caught by Fevez off his own bowling, Birchall followed at 82 and Rawlings at 83. Turner and Worlock then settled down and raised the score to 157 before the latter was bowled by Green for a good 52. Johnson helped Turner to raise the score to 212, before he was bowled by Probyn for 35. Hepburn was stumped jumping out to Severn, and then Gow and Turner, scoring rapidly, raised the score to 285, when the innings was declared. Turner carried his bat for 66, while Gow made 34 not out. The visitors opened with Rawson and Severn, and Hepburn and Wood bowled first. Hepburn secured two wickets in his first over, and Turner on going on got Rawson caught by Hepburn for a nice 31. Green and Powers made a decided stand, and when Powers retired the score was 126. The remainder of the side failed to add many with the exception of Oppenheimer, who was out last for a good 22. The visitors' innings closed for 185.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. A. T. WILLETT'S XI.

Rawlings won the toss and elected to bat on a lovely wicket. Birchall and Edgar opened the innings, but when only 12 runs had been scored Edgar attempted a short run and was run out. Rawlings now came in, but Birchall left at 24, to be followed by Rawlings and Worlock at 35. Worlock had just previously been bowled by a no-ball from Powers. Gow did not stay long, but Johnson and Turner by bright cricket took the score to 124 before the former was caught at cover. After he had left Hepburn played a dashing innings, carrying his bat for 52, and helped by Turner, Reed and Wood took the score to 250 for eight wickets, at which total the innings was declared closed.

The visitors opened disastrously, Willett being caught at cover point in the first over and H. Munro being bowled two overs later. Ferguson did not stay long, and P. Munro soon followed after a rather lucky innings. Craig and Greene took the score to 79 before the latter was bowled in trying to pull a fast long hop. Powers now joined Craig, and the score rose rapidly, and there seemed a chance of knocking the runs off. Circuitt went on to bowl and in his first over got Craig caught at the wicket for a brilliant 54. No one else stayed long, and the School won in the end by 75 runs.

Circuitt took three wickets for 16 runs, Wood three for 27, and Turner three for 48.

K.SS. v. T.BB.

This match was played up-Fields on Monday, July 30, and after an excellent game resulted in a win for T.BB. by 3 wickets, though at one time it looked very improbable. K.SS. batted first and made a fairly good start, Edgar and Rawlings each making 20; the latter was bowled by a beautiful ball from Hepburn, who otherwise was not in his usual form. Gow played well, and Wood livened up the game by some good hitting, but after this the innings soon ended for 186. T.BB. lost Worlock and Johnson for only 10 runs, and though Rawson and Reed played well 5 wickets were down with only 76 on the board. K.SS. at this time looked like winning, but a stand of 70 by Harley and Turner changed the aspect of the game. Harley played a very good innings, while Turner was only once missed, off his very first ball — a disastrous mistake for K.SS. After this partnership the game soon came to an end, T.BB. winning as stated.

FINAL HOUSE MATCH.

GRANT'S v. HOME-BOARDERS.

The final was started on Wednesday, July 18, and continued on the following Friday and Monday. Grant's won the toss, but made poor use of the excellent wicket, the only really good display being by Rawson, who played an invaluable innings for his side; Hobson also hit well towards the end. Home-Boarders started badly, but a stand by Worthington and Turner retrieved the position, and they were thus enabled to lead the Grant's total by five. At their second attempt Grant's did still worse, the best bats failing miserably before the slow bowling. Rawson again played well, and Wylde hit vigorously; but the feature of the innings was Horton's dashing display. H.BB. were set to make 83. They lost Worthington at 7, but C. Circuitt and Turner hit off the remainder in three-quarters of an hour. The shield thus returns to Home-Boarders after an absence of twenty-one years.

Historical Notes.

(As quoted up School on September 27 by the Rev. Canon Duckworth.)

'As Alexander the Great admonished one of his soldiers (of the same name with himself) to remember that his name was Alexander, and to behave himself accordingly, so I hope our School has all along behaved itself suitably to the royal name and title which it bears, and that it will make the same august name the standing rule of all its actings and proceedings for ever; still remembering with itself that it is called the "King's School," and therefore let nothing arbitrary or tyrannical be practised in it. It is the "King's School," and therefore let nothing but what is loyal come out of it, or be found in it.'—Dr. South's Sermons. No. XVII.

[The sermon was (so South says) composed for 'a solemn meeting of such as had been bred at Westminster School,' but the meeting never took place, owing to the death of King Charles II. It was written by desire of Lord Jeffreys, and was dedicated 'to the Reverend, Learned and very worthy Dr. Robert Freind, Headmaster of Westminster School, together with the other subordinate masters of the same, as likewise to all such as heretofore in their several times have been, and those who at present actually are, members of that Royal Foundation, next in fame to its glorious foundress, Queen Elizabeth.']

'THE ELIZABETHAN.'

The Officers for the ensuing year are as follows :—

Editor.—A. P. Waterfield.
Hon. Secretary.—W. R. Birchall.
Hon. Treasurer.—Mr. Sargeant.

DEBATING SOCIETY.

AN extraordinary meeting of this Society was held on Thursday, September 27, when the following Officers were elected for the ensuing year :—

Visitor.—The Rev. the Headmaster.
President.—A. P. Waterfield.
Vice-President.—D. J. Jardine.
Hon. Treasurer.—W. R. Birchall.
Hon. Secretary.—H. G. F. Longhurst.

The Committee consists of the above, together with—

M. T. Maxwell and F. G. Turner (co-opted), and R. R. Harley (elected by the Society).

The Card of Debates for Play Term session will be published in our next issue.

NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY.

At a meeting held on Friday, September 28, the following Officers were elected:—

President.—A. P. Waterfield.

Vice-President.—A. E. F. Wood.

Hon. Secretary.—A. S. R. Macklin.

These will form the Committee, together with—

R. M. Barrington-Ward, C. C. Treatt, M. T. Maxwell, and O. V. Thomas.

House Notes.

K.SS.—We offer our heartiest congratulations to G. B. Wilson, W. R. Birchall, and P. T. Rawlings on their Election to Trinity, and to E. N. R. Trentham and G. M. Rambaut on their Election to Christ Church; also to R. C. Le Blond and R. E. Nott Bower on their Triplett Exhibitions. Congratulations are also due to A. E. F. Wood and J. C. Gow on their Pinks; to J. S. Heaton-Ellis, M. T. Maxwell, and J. W. Ferguson on Pink-and-Whites; and to M. Hammond and J. E. Lloyd-Williams on Third XI.'s. We also tender our heartiest congratulations to Mr. W. T. Kennedy (O.W.) on his high place in the Indian Civil List, and to Mr. G. L. Crowe (O.W.) on his successful innings for Worcestershire. The Town-Boy match ended, after a close fight, in favour of our opponents; and we have also to chronicle a defeat in the Inter-House Fives Ties, in which we succumbed in the final to H.BB., after a game which aroused immense interest. We look forward, however, to retrieving these losses next year. Election Dinner was as enjoyable as ever. College Hall rejoices in a new coat of paint, and a somewhat startling re-colouring and re-arrangement of the crests over the High Table, on the whole, a welcome improvement. Fives and chess have already started, the entrance-list of each being suspiciously long; and the Literary Society looks forward to as pleasant a year as last. We had seven members in the team that beat Clapham Rovers, and heartily congratulate W. R. Birchall on this initial success.

ASHBURNHAM.—The beginning of the School year has come round once more, and we return to find many old friends gone and new faces in their stead. We all regret the loss of S. F. Johnson, who has combined the duties of head of the house, captain of football and cricket with great success. In addition, G. E. A. Whitworth, A. M. Davies, A. G. Ogilvie, E. D. Pinks, J. Mappin, A. J. Clarke, and J. N. Kennedy have left, to the regret of all. Our heartiest congratulations are due to Whitworth on his success at Election.

To turn to the cricket of last term our congratulations are due to S. F. Johnson on his Pinks, to W. B.

Harris and A. E. Rice-Oxley on Pink-and-Whites, and to J. C. Davidson, E. S. Pinker, and J. Mappin on Third XI.'s. The House Fives Ties last term were won by A. E. Rice-Oxley and G. E. A. Whitworth, who beat D. J. Jardine and A. G. Ogilvie after three excellent games (15-12, 8-15, 15-10).

Our new Monitors are W. E. Horsley and J. C. Davidson; and A. E. Rice-Oxley, O. V. Thomas, and D. M. Low have come into the Upper Room. It is with the deepest regret that we hear that W. B. Harris is unable to play football this term; as his services are invaluable both to the School and the House, we can but echo the wish of everyone that he will soon be declared fit again.

GRANT'S.—It is with great sorrow that we note the number of old and trusted Grantites who left last term to the regret of all; at the same time we must congratulate Adrian and Ratcliffe-Cousins on their success at Election and Pitt-Lewis on passing the Higher Certificate. We must not omit to mention D. S. Robertson's remarkable achievement at Cambridge, where he was first in the first division of the Classical Tripos in his second year. Our congratulations are also due to Reed and Worlock on their Pinks, to Hodgson on his Pink-and-Whites, and to Shearman, Rawson, Horton and Hobson on their Third XI.'s and House Colours. Our numbers remain unchanged this term owing to the arrival of Dutton from Home Boarders and seven new boys. In House Matches we had the misfortune to be beaten by Home Boarders in the final round, but our Juniors were successful in winning the Cricket Cup—for the first time since the new Cup was presented. Our prospects for Juniors this term look fairly bright, though we are likely to be handicapped by the new age restriction.

H.BB.—We have once more returned to our scholastic duties, and are at once pounced upon by the Editor, who comes with his usual demand. The great event of last term was our victory, by nine wickets, over Grant's in the final of the House Matches; this was indeed far beyond our hopes. The Shield thus comes—or rather will come, for we await the new one—to Home-Boarders after a lapse of twenty-one years. Another achievement was our victory over College in the House Fives; we thus retain possession of this Cup also. Our congratulations are due to Hill on 'Thirds,' to C. M. L. Circuit on 'Thirds' and House Colours, and to Gover on House Colours. Our Fives Ties of last term had to be abandoned, as the manager of them seemed quite incapable of playing off more than one Tie per month. The H.BB. Juniors, under the new system, do not seem likely to be overpowering, but we expect they will rise to the occasion when the time comes. The new House Monitors this term are C. C. Gover and A. J. L. Circuit, Worthington having to our great grief left us.

RIGAUD'S.—We have to deplore the loss of many old friends, but owing to the arrival of six new boys, and B. V. T. Worthington with two others from H.B.B., our numbers remain unaltered. R. R. Harley is head of the house, with B. V. T. Worthington and D. MacManus as new monitors. We have to congratulate Mr. R. N. R. Blaker on playing in such brilliant form for the champion county; also S. McKenna on his success at Election, and W. E. Glover, J. F. Goodall, and A. Lamb on Thirds and House Colours. We were very successful in the Swimming competitions at the end of last term, and heartily congratulate those who won prizes. We hear that Mr. C. Powers sailed for America a few days ago; we wish him the best of luck, and hope to see him back again next year. We welcome Mr. L. O. Edminson back from Germany, where he has been struggling with the language for about a year.

Old Westminster

At Oxford Mr. W. A. Greene is in the First, Mr. W. T. S. Sonnenschein in the Second, and Mr. A. T. Willett in the Third Class in the School of Litteræ Humaniores. Our younger readers may like to be informed that this is the most ancient, famous and excellent of the Oxford Schools. We congratulate Mr. Greene on thus crowning a career whose distinctions include the Hertford, the Craven, and the Latin Verse.

The Rev. Walter Kitchin has been presented to the vicarage of Podington, near Wellingborough.

Mr. W. T. Kennedy is fourth on the list of successful candidates for the Home, Indian and Colonial Civil Services.

The Rev. Clement F. Rogers has been appointed Special Lecturer in Pastoral Theology at King's College, London.

Mr. E. A. Lewis has received a commission in the Sherwood Foresters.

Mr. J. M. Craig and Mr. F. W. I. V. Fraser have passed out of Sandhurst.

Mr. C. E. L. Johnstone, R.G.A., has qualified as an Interpreter in French.

Dr. E. V. Arnold's 'Vedic Metre in its Historical Development' is published by the Cambridge Press.

Mr. J. H. Alderson, whose marriage is recorded below, has gone to South Africa to take up an educational appointment under the Government.

Mr. R. N. R. Blaker batted extremely well this year for Kent and was high up on the average list. Mr. G. L. Crowe played several good innings for Worcestershire.

Mr. H. Warington-Smyth, an old Secretary to the Elizabethan Club, was recently gazetted a member of the Legislative Council of the Transvaal, and is now Acting Commissioner of Mines of that colony and a member of the Executive.

Obituary.

THE death of FREDERICK LUTTRELL MOYSEY, of Bathealton Court, removes one who was probably the oldest Westminster and the oldest Blue. Born in 1815, the son and grandson of Westminsters, he was admitted in 1828, became a K.S. in 1830, and was elected to Oxford in 1834. He rowed stroke in the Boat-race of 1836. Ordained in 1838, he was for many years Rector of Combe St. Nicholas. He married in 1839 a daughter of the Hon. John Ward. His death occurred suddenly at Ilfracombe on August 13. [See The Times of August 18.]

We have also to record the death of RICHARD WILLIAM PALLISER, sometime Captain in the 8th Royal Irish Hussars. Born in 1841, the son of Richard and Fanny Bury Palliser, of Castlewoode, co. Kildare, he was admitted in 1853. He died on August 8.

On the same day another very old Westminster passed away. FREDERICK OTWAY MAYNE, born in 1823, was admitted in 1836, became a K.S. in 1837, and was elected to Cambridge in 1841. Ordained in 1846, he became an Indian chaplain. He was afterwards Vicar of Strood and of Bearsted, resigning the latter vicarage in 1883, and thenceforward living in retirement.

We have also to mourn the death of one of our own contemporaries. EDWIN VIGNOLLES RIX, born in 1888 and admitted in 1900, left in 1904 with a commission in the Militia. In August he died of typhoid fever in camp at Fleetwood.
