WHISPERINGS FROM THE OLD LIBRARY.

It little profits that an idle boy,
 In this warm room, among these dusty books,
 Armed with a Sophocles, I toil and give
 A flat translation to my pedagogue,
 Who sits and chides me for my countless faults.
 I cannot keep from slumber : I must yawn
 Wide to the roof. All times I have enjoyed
 Greatly my sleep (and suffered too), with those
 Who stole their forty winks, and by myself
 In summer time and when November fogs
 Tortured our throats. I am notorious
 For always dreaming with an empty mind.
 Much have I written out : principal parts,
 Homeric Grammar, rules of prosody ;
 Horace not least : fourth Aeneid most of all,
 And shewn keen rivalry amid my peers
 For five-and-forty minutes in the Yard.
 I was a feature of Detention School :
 Yet all experience is an arch, where thro'

More brightly gleam the joys of secret sleep. . . .

This is my friend, invaluable to me,
 Who keeps me posted in the proper line :
 Well loved of me, who helps me to fulfil
 My tasks, and by attention not to lose
 The all-important place, and by cool tact
 To make my work seem passably prepared.

So sits he nigh me, well entrenched behind
 A pile of cribs and comment'ries, engaged
 In paying due attention to the book
 When I'm asleep. He does his work (and mine). . . .

There lies the door, inviting swift retreat ;
 There smile the cool, deep, baths ;—my company
 Souls that have snored, and slept (and wept) with me,
 That ever with a smile of gladness took
 A hundred lines of Rep. for being late—
 You know this Sophocles is unprepared :
 Sluggards have yet their pleasures, and their toils.
 This is our final term, but ere the end
 Some work of noble note may yet be done—
 If we can work the bleeding-nose device. . . .

So, one by one, we stagger from our seats :
 With faces swathed in cambric measureless,

Gain leave of absence. Now's the chance, my friends.
 'Tis not too late to seek a cooler place :
 Begone, and creeping down the street with care,
 Avoid the eye of watchful pedagogue.
 My purpose holds that we now seek the baths
 Of Smith Street, Westminster, and there remain. . . .

It may be, some one saw us coming forth ;
 It may be the attendant showed us up
 For flinging towels down from the gallery.
 Tho' much is written, much abides, and tho'
 We have not now the knack of writing out
 Three hundred lines the hour, we do our best,
 And hope with ceaseless effort to complete
 Five thousand lines before the exeat.

Historical Notes.

NEITHER Phillimore nor Forshall is quite correct about the Ireland Prizes.

Forshall's Note on p. 434 should run :—

One for the Major (Candidate) ; one for the Sixth Form and 3rd Election ; one for the Shell and Under Elections.

The Fifth did not compete.

1845. Forshall's errata—3. J. Stebbing.

1848. 3. W. Waterfield (as in Forshall).

1849. 3. J. Andrews in Forshall is probably correct, rather than W. C. Macready as in Phillimore. Perhaps the Rev. S. Andrews might be interrogated on the subject, if there is no information in the School Records.

The Slade Prizes, as given in Phillimore, are almost all wrong. Those in Forshall are correct, except that in 1850 W. Waterfield took the 1st Latin Essay, as shown in Phillimore, besides the Greek Iambics.

POETRY.

LIDDELL'S TREE.

THE footsteps on the flagstones are as light,
 As shrill the voices and the eyes as bright,
 The joy as taintless and as brief the woe,
 As on that morning threescore years ago
 When in the making of an honour'd name
 Liddell from Oxford came.

Scarce older stand the towers where on ill day
 Wren turn'd his genius to an alien way :
 Not older, nay much younger, are or seem
 Those Abbey stones that face the noonday beam
 And see in Fighting Green the daisy smile
 Bright as in other while.

What tho' 'tis held the chariot of the sun
 Hath now but twenty thousand years to run?
 What love of kin so quick that could extend
 Feeling to who shall shivering see the end?
 O'er us for all the flight of years the same
 Blazes the radiant flame.

But thou, the sapling set by Liddell's spade,
 Agest where others age not. Yearly fade
 Thy leaves and fall, and when they come in spring
 They see eld's earliest marks, the clamping ring,
 The branches lopt, what else may hold thee fast
 Fighting the furious blast.

And many a solid wall beneath the soil
 Pens thee, and hard thy prison'd roots must toil
 To raise the sap and feed the leaf. At length,
 When some sad generation sees thy strength
 Fail thee, no other fills thy place. Oh tree,
 Let me not outlive thee.

TEMPORA MUTANTUR.

Suggested by Horace : Sat. I., 25-26.

TIMES have changed for the worse, I fear :
 For the ushers in Augustan Rome
 With dainties won their pupils' ear,
 And made the class-room just like home.

Now, hungry, broiled by burning sun,
 We slave unfed until we're ill :
 Or, if we munch the lawless bun,
 Parade the Yard in penal drill.

S. McK.

THE CONCERT.

THE concert was held up School on Friday, May 25, and went off with its customary success. The programme was divided into two parts. 'The Mikado' formed the first part. In this the School had the services of Messrs. F. B. Ranalow, S. B. Depree, and R. C. O'Brien. Both the choruses and the songs were received with great applause ; and the last verse of one of S. McKenna's songs, which we understand came from his own pen, was, perhaps, the 'hit' of the evening. It dealt with the 'Banner-bearing fury called the Female Suffragist,' and many other well-known topics. The trebles, though perhaps not quite as good as those of last year, entered very well into their parts. Part II. was composed of songs and piano solos. Mr. R. Hackworth opened with Chopin's Ballade in F minor, which was very much appreciated, as was his second piece, Brahms' Rhapsody in B minor. Mr. Hackforth is always welcome at School concerts ; and we thank him for his kindness in coming down from Cambridge for the purpose of giving us his valuable services. Mr. F. B. Ranalow sang three songs, all of which were received with tremendous applause by all present. We are always glad to hear Mr. Ranalow's voice, and we look forward to his singing from year to year. He gave as an encore this year, 'Long ago in Alcala,' which has proved such a success at many past concerts. The evening ended with the inauguration of the 'Carmen Feriale Westmonasteriense,' written by Mr. Sargeaunt, and set to music by Mr. Piggott. This chorus was full of 'go' from beginning to end, and we hope Mr. Sargeaunt was gratified by the way in which it was received.

It only remains now to thank the O.W.W. who gave us their kind help, and contributed so much to the success of the evening ; and last, but not least, we are grateful to Mr. J. G. Ranalow, by whose unceasing efforts the concert was raised to such a high pitch of excellence.

We take the opportunity of thanking the Headmaster and Mrs. Gow for their kind hospitality at the end of the concert.

THE FIELDS.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. ETON RAMBLERS.

THIS match was played up Fields on Saturday, May 19, and ended in a defeat for the School by 83 runs. The Eton Ramblers, having won the toss, elected to bat, and sent in Williams and Blackett to face the bowling of Hepburn and Edgar. The former, bowling from the far end, was soon successful, and Blackett was dismissed by the second ball of Hepburn's first over. Williams then fell to Edgar, caught by Heaton-Ellis at cover-point, and then O'Brien and Hoare made a determined stand until the former was bowled by Hepburn for 20. Captain Le Gard then joined Hoare, and these two continued to add to the score until Le Gard was dismissed by Hepburn. Hoare soon fell for a well-played 52. A. H. Hoare and Ellis then carried the score to 127, when the former was dismissed, clean bowled by Hepburn for 5. Ellis was soon bowled by Le Blond, and then a determined stand was made by Malcolmson and L. L. Hoare. With these two out, however, the innings soon closed for 219, Hepburn taking 7 wickets for 57. The School sent in Turner and Birchall to face the bowling of Le Gard and Ellis, and both soon succumbed, Turner failing to judge a slow ball from Le Gard and Birchall caught in the slips off Ellis. Rawlings looked like making runs, but after compiling 20 was caught by Williams off Ellis. Edgar was then clean bowled by Ellis, and Gow was hopelessly beaten by Le Gard's slow ball. Hepburn played a dashing innings, and compiled 31 in about twenty minutes. The rest of the side only added 42, and the innings closed for 136. In the second innings the Eton Ramblers scored 92 for the loss of 7 wickets, Turner securing 7 for 48.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. R.M.A. WOOLWICH.

THIS match was played up Fields on Wednesday, May 23, and resulted in a draw. Rawlings won the toss, and sent in Birchall and Hepburn to face the bowling of Peel and Harford. A bad start ensued, Hepburn being clean bowled by a good ball from Peel when the score only stood at 8. Birchall was joined by Turner. These two made a small stand and brought the score up to 20, when Birchall was bowled by Peel. Rawlings then joined Turner, and both batsmen played themselves carefully in, scoring slowly at first, but quickening the pace before lunch. The not-outs at lunch were: Rawlings, 44; Turner, 29.

AFTER lunch both batsmen soon got thoroughly going, Rawlings dealing with the bowling in a very masterful fashion, whilst Turner made some very fine late cuts past third man. Rawlings very quickly reached his 50, and both batsmen continued to play with skill and confidence. In about an hour Rawlings reached his century, and then he began to hit out, and runs came fast. However, at 131 he was bowled in attempting to pull a shooting ball from McNeile.

He had played a fine innings for 131 without giving a chance, and hitting twenty-four 4's. Gow then went in and seemed likely to make some runs, but was unluckily l.b.w. to Peel. Soon after this Turner came out for a fine 57, and when Edgar and Heaton-Ellis had only added 4 and were both out, the innings was declared for 255 for seven. The School started with Hepburn and Turner, while the R.M.A. sent in Dickinson and Robertson. Hepburn was soon successful, for he bowled Dickinson for 2 in his first over. McCleod then joined Robertson, but the latter soon fell to a fine one-hand catch by Circuitt off Turner at square-leg. Boscawen then joined McCleod, but after scoring 15 he was bowled by Turner. Hankin followed, but after a short stand he was caught by Circuitt off Turner. Drayson then came in and soon got going, but when it seemed as if McCleod and he would make a stand the former was bowled by Turner. McNeile did not stay long, and Drayson was joined by Craig, and when the former had made 50 and the latter 20, both not-out, stumps were drawn. Thus the draw was very interesting, Westminster making 255 for seven and the R.M.A. making 184 for six wickets.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. I ZINGARI.

Played up Fields on Saturday, May 26. Owing to rain all through the morning this match could not be started till 3 o'clock. The visitors won the toss, and sent in Mann and Webbe against the bowling of Hepburn and Turner. The score mounted steadily, and Circuitt relieved Turner and Le Blond before Webbe was caught in the deep. Mann and Longman scored at a good rate till Turner, who had gone on again at the Pavilion end, bowled Mann in attempting to pull the ball. A little later Harley bowled Longman. Patterson and Carmichael carried the score to 195, and then the visitors declared. Hepburn and Birchall went in first for the School, against the bowling of Mann and Roebuck. Birchall did not survive long, but Hepburn and Turner stayed together for some time, till Hepburn was caught off Mann's bowling. After this no one stayed long, except Turner, and the School managed to bring off a draw with eight wickets down.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v M.C.C. AND GROUND.

This match was played up Fields on Wednesday, May 30, and ended in a crushing defeat for Westminster. The School, who batted first, sent in Hepburn and Edgar to oppose the bowling of Wainwright and Douglas, but disasters came almost immediately, Edgar being clean bowled by Douglas and Hepburn being caught off a miss-hit from Wainwright. The pitch was fast, and the ball was inclined to shoot, and no one could make anything of Douglas. The innings closed soon after a quarter past one for 37, Turner playing well for 17 of them. Wainwright took 3 wickets for 13 and Douglas 8 for 18, the latter doing the 'hat trick.' The M.C.C. opened with Hatton and Crawford, and the Westminster total was soon passed without either wicket falling, but at last Hatton was bowled by Reed for 29, and soon afterwards Rawlings bowled Crawford for 46. The innings lasted all the afternoon, and resulted in a total of 246, the best scores being Douglas (49), Crawford (46), Moore (40), Hatton (29), and Borradaile (25). For the School no less than seven bowlers were tried, the most successful being Rawlings (4 for 50), Reed (3 for 39), and Le Blond (2 for 19).

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. HARROW BLUES.

This match was played up Fields on Saturday, June 2, and resulted in a win for the Harrow Blues by 186. They won the toss and sent in W. J. Webb and Hoveley to face the bowling of Hepburn and Turner. These bowlers met with no success, and after eight overs Reed replaced Turner and Le Blond Hepburn. However, both batsmen continued to play with confidence, and Rawlings took the ball from Le Blond and Wood replaced Reed. This double change soon had effect, as A. J. Webbe was caught by Turner off Wood for 42. Soon after Wood bowled Hoveley for a well-played 60. Greenless was then bowled by Hepburn, and Black by Wood. Hutchings came in next and baffled all the efforts of our bowlers, and with Cruise made a determined stand, until the latter was smartly stumped by Birchall off Turner. Bolton then joined Hutchings, but only scored 5, when he was bowled by Wood. Cunningham also soon left, being caught by Johnson off Wood for 4. H. J. Shaw had scored only 2 when he was caught and bowled by Turner. Hutchings was then caught by Edgar off Turner for a fine 87, and the innings closed for 271. The School opened badly, for Hepburn and Birchall were both dismissed before 10 runs were on the board. Turner and Rawlings looked like getting set, but the former was caught by Shaw off Hutchings for 7 and the same fielder took Rawlings off Black for 13. After this the School collapsed and only raised about 20, with the exception of Edgar, who played a fine innings of 29 not out. The School innings ended for 85, Black securing nine wickets for 34.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

WESTMINSTER SCHOOL v. DULWICH.

A MATCH was shot against Dulwich at the Staines range on Wednesday, May 16. The result was very disappointing, as hitherto the VIII. had been doing well in practice. At 200 yards the match was very even, and on going up to the 500 yards range we were only a few points behind. However, at the longer range nearly everyone failed to make even a moderate score, while Dulwich still shot steadily. The light was bad and the wind a little tricky, but, notwithstanding, the School ought to have done better. For us Sergeant Nott-Bower and Corporal Voysey were fairly good, while Lieutenant Wilson, Colour-Sergeant Metcalfe, and Corporal Whitworth shot steadily, contributing 48 apiece. Corporal Treatt did well at 200 yards, but unfortunately his vernier was inaccurate, and caused him several misses at 500 yards through no fault of his own.

The Brinton Memorial Cup thus fell to K.S.S., with the score of 326.

The competition was of a very fair standard, and at one time it appeared likely that it would be closely contested, as Grants were only two points behind at 200 yards. Unfortunately Grants fell off considerably at 500 yards, thereby leaving K.S.S. winners by twenty-three points.

Sergt. R. E. Nott-Bower shot exceedingly well for his 64, which won the Brinton Medal.

Col.-Sergt. Metcalfe and Corp. E. R. J. Ratcliffe-Cousins also got into the sixties with a very fair display. It will be seen that the score of the best eight reaches 467.

House Notes.

K.S.S.—Our first duty is to congratulate our team on winning the Brinton Memorial Cup for Inter-House shooting by the margin of 23 points, to which Sergt. R. E. Nott-Bower contributed the very fine score of 64, thereby winning the Brinton Medal. We omitted in our last issue to congratulate J. F. C. Gow, A. E. F. Wood, and J. S. Heath-Ellis on first appearances for the School. Besides these, W. R. Birchall, R. C. Le Blond, and S. C. Edgar have been playing, while we must not forget to congratulate P. T. Rawlings on his magnificent century. Benvenuti again acquitted himself well at the concert, while others of us reinforced the chorus. The Literary Society has read the 'School for Scandal,' and has begun 'Two Gentlemen of Verona.' In conclusion, we wish all O.W.W. candidates for the Classical Tripos and Greats every possible success.

ASHBURNHAM.—We have been playing H.B.B. in Juniors, and obtained a lead of 18 runs on the 1st innings; but unhappily our success has not as yet been extended to the 2nd innings also. Several Ashburnhamites were conspicuous at the concert; J. N. Kennedy is to be especially congratulated on his performance. There is considerable keenness in the House on shooting; and we hope to turn out a fair team for the House Competition. At last the Fives and Racquet Ties seem as if they will be shortly terminated, owing to the commendable energy of D. J. Jardine and W. B. Harris. We are very glad to hear that Mr. R. P. Mears (O.W.) has been covering himself with glory at Cambridge lately. The Cadet Corps can boast several Ashburnhamite recruits this term. J. C. C. M. Davidson is working hard for his Little-Go, which comes off this month; we sincerely hope he will be successful.

GRANT'S.—After our encyclopædic effusion of last month there is absolutely nothing to add, and nothing fresh has occurred which can be considered worthy of mention. Practically the whole of 'Inner' has been taking a holiday. Fraser and Pitt-Lewis have been matriculating at Oxford; we are glad to record that both have succeeded. Adrian has only just returned after an absence caused by a fear of 'mumps'; while Lieutenant Metcalfe has been in camp with his regiment at Yarmouth. Our Juniors are doing well; they have beaten Rigaud's Juniors. W. A. R. Hadley and C. G. Reed have played for the School. Several members of the House have taken up racquets very seriously and show great promise, but we have no representatives in the School Fives ties.

H.B.B.—As we have received several complaints about the brevity and dulness of our 'House Notes,' we should like to state that last month we were not guilty of the former accusation, since the Notes were cut down after leaving us, through no fault of our own; as for the dulness, however, we have no excuse, and can merely apologise. The most notable of our doings this month is the victory of our Junior team over Ashburnham by 49 runs, though we were nearly thirty behind on the 1st innings. 'Twas a famous victory,' and we heartily congratulate all the team. Our congratulations are also due to the brothers Circuit on playing for the 1st XI., and to A. J. on receiving his House-Colours and Thirds. In fact, our Captain tells us that we have a most excellent chance for the Shield this year, and we never doubt his accuracy on any point. The Fives ties, which are under new management this term, don't seem to be progressing fast, but we understand that the manager's motto is: 'Festina lente.' Anyhow, we hope to see them finished some time this term—we have the reputation of being sanguine. In conclusion, we must congratulate our shooting Six on their efforts in the House Competition, the casualties being nil, a result we never expected even in our most sanguine moments.

RIGAUD'S.—Congratulations, as usual, must take precedence of everything else this month. We therefore hasten to congratulate G. Hepburn upon regaining his 'Pinks,' which he did after the match against Eton Ramblers, and also upon his fine achievements, both in batting and bowling, which led up to that happy event. We much regret to say that C. L. Whittard has not been with us since the first three days of term; and we hear, to our sorrow, that he will not be back for some weeks yet. We wish him a speedy return to good health.

In the first round of the Junior House matches, we were drawn against and soundly beaten by Grant's, in spite of a few individual triumphs on our part. We must hope for better luck in the future. No one who watches for a moment our daily fielding practice in Green can assign our want of success to any lack of enthusiasm.

The studious air of silent study which characterises this part of the year is again making itself felt, and we offer, in sorrowful anticipation, our regretful sympathy to all those who are in any wise afflicted with Matriculation, Election, Higher Certificate, or other kindred ailments.

Beyond a little fitful and erratic shooting, our Cadet Corps members have been unobtrusive.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of 'The Elizabethan.'

DEAR SIR,—May I introduce—per saturam—a few small suggestions of improvement? First, I should like to call the attention of those in authority to the scarcity of horn-books for the use of the monitorial at prayers. This matter was broached several months ago, but no attention paid to it. Secondly, I should like to protest against a practice which during recent years has assumed alarming proportions. I refer to the wearing straw hats with 'Etons' and tail-coats. This is no individual prejudice, but the expressed opinion of large numbers of present Westminsters, Old Westminsters, and strangers. There are certain things which go unpardoned by men, gods, and fashion-plates, and if one crime is more deadly even than the wearing a straw hat with 'Etons,' it is the combination of a tail-coat with that article of head-wear.

With the assurance of support from all who have the School's interest at heart, I subscribe myself,

Yours truly,
UNUS E MULTIS.

To the Editor of 'The Elizabethan.'

SIR,—It may interest your readers to be reminded that this year is the centenary of the T.BB. and K.SS. cricket match. From 1806 to 1905 the K.SS. won 51 of the matches, the T.BB. 36, 12 have been drawn, and once the match did not take place.

Yours truly,
L. E. T.
2 Little Dean's Yard,
Westminster.

To the Editor of 'The Elizabethan.'

DEAR SIR,—Can no steps be taken to prevent the disfigurement of the School door by an almost unlimited number of Cadet Corps notices, ranging from one to ten days in age?

No one minds one, or even two notices, of moderately recent interest, but there is a certain inartistic monotony in six or seven.

Yours truly,
S. MCKENNA.

To the Editor of 'The Elizabethan.'

DEAR SIR,—It must have occurred to many of your readers that it is a great pity to see Green put to no use whatever during Election term. Surely it could be used for nets, without any inconvenience to the houses round. Or, if there should be any objection on this score, tennis-courts would surely be a great acquisition. There is room, I think, for at least three courts.

Yours, &c.,
D. J. JARDINE.
