

The Elizabethan.

Vol. X. No. 25.

WESTMINSTER, JULY 1903.

Price 6d.

VALE !

WITH this number another Editor of the ELIZABETHAN makes his bow, and custom demands from him a few words of farewell as he vacates his office. Throughout the year he has done his best to keep the ELIZABETHAN just what, in his opinion, a School Magazine should be—a means of chronicling the events of the school as they pass, and of keeping O.W.W. in touch with the doings of their successors at Westminster. Of the work this entails, of the difficulties to be overcome before sufficient matter is found to fill out the nine ordinary numbers of the year, no one who has not had experience can have a notion; yet it has been a privilege to have had the charge for a year of a magazine like the ELIZABETHAN, which has now flourished for twenty-eight years, and has a reputation so high that an Editor must always have some misgivings lest it should suffer in his hands. So it is with a sense of relief that we feel our year of office at an end; yet our relief is tempered by regret. Our regrets do not, however, prompt us to the vapid sentimentalism which seems to rise naturally in so many, as they contemplate leaving the place in which five, or six, or even seven years of their lives have been spent. Such idle laments can do no good. Rather should our thoughts turn to that countless host that has gone forth from Westminster to be 'profitable members of this Church and nation'; rather should we determine that we, too, in days to come shall be numbered among that noble army.

And so we pass the ELIZABETHAN on to our successors; bequeathing to them a rich legacy, which we hope they will use to the greatest advantage. For ourselves it remains only to say Farewell and FLOREAT.

Poetry.

Just ere I quit the shelter of thy walls,
 Rich in the memory of the glorious dead,
 Who here were taught to play the man, and made
 Thy memory dearer for the hush that falls
 On every soul in England that recalls
 Their names and deeds; just ere I start to tread
 The rough high road of life, on me, too, shed
 A little of the spirit that enthralles
 Thy noblest sons: the hate of wrong and shame,
 The love of truth, that, if I may not share
 Their immortality, until my name
 Be blotted out in death, none may declare
 That word or deed of mine has dulled the fame
 Three golden centuries have made so fair.

School Notes.

At the Challenge held on July 1, 2, and 3, the following were elected to Scholarships:—

Resident.

K. R. H. Jones.	D. M. Griffin.
A. S. R. Macklin.	L. E. N. Ryan.*
A. E. F. Wood.	E. S. Wood.
R. M. Barrington-Ward.	J. S. Heaton-Ellis.

Non-Resident.

T. E. Rodocanachi.*	G. B. Chapman.
E. R. J. Ratcliffe-Cousins.*

And the following to Exhibitions:—

E. G. Jacquet.	C. B. Bonner.
G. L. Troutbeck.	J. E. D. Manlove.

* Already in the School.

R. G. Gardner, A. T. Coleby, and F. S. Fleuret received their Pinks after the I Zingari match, and G. L. Crowe and L. G. Kirkpatrick after the Charterhouse match.

The Pashley Cups for the Charterhouse match have been won this year by G. L. Crowe for batting, and by C. Powers for bowling; this is the second year that Powers has had the bowling cup.

An article on the School appeared in the July number of 'The Captain.' It gives a remarkably good account of Westminster, and is singularly free from the mistakes which are so common in such articles. One or two things perhaps call for comment: the title of one of the illustrations, 'Entrance to the Jerusalem Chamber,' must be a slip for 'Star Chamber,' for elsewhere in the article the right name is found. Again, it is hardly correct to say that 'Hall' is the oldest part of the school buildings, and, indeed, the only one that dates from before the year of the College's foundation (1560). Besides the gymnasium, which is part of the oldest of the monastic buildings, Up-School is part of the old dormitory of the monks. These, however, are but small defects in an article which is quite one of the best that have appeared on Westminster in recent years.

Sir Walter Phillimore has awarded his prize for an English Essay to K. N. Colville. The subject was 'The Principles Common to the Fine Arts.'

At the offertories in the Abbey on St. Barnabas', St. John the Baptist's, and St. Peter's Days, £2. 15s. 8d., £3. 2s., and £3. 8s. 7½d. were collected for the School Mission.

Martin's shop is now in process of demolition; he attends the School daily for orders, &c., but has taken a temporary shop in North Street.

The following two volumes have been added to the Old or Busby Library. They were presented to the School by Arthur Southey, Esq. (O.W.), from the library of his father, Dr. Southey:—

Pauli Aemylii Veronensis de Rebus gestis Francorum, 1550.
 Opus Epistolarum Petri Martyris, 1670.

The following is the result of the Racquet Ties which have just been finished:—

FIRST ROUND.

J. C. Vernon beat R. C. Oppenheimer (2-0).
 A. T. Coleby beat E. C. Chesney (2-0).
 F. W. Hubback beat K. N. Colville (2-0).
 G. L. Crowe a bye.

SEMI-FINAL ROUND.

F. W. Hubback beat A. T. Coleby (2-0).
 J. C. Vernon beat G. L. Crowe (2-0).

FINAL.

F. W. Hubback beat J. C. Vernon (2-0).

We must congratulate H. Logan on his fine scores of 127 v. West Kent, and 189 v. Old Carthusians. The latter establishes a School Record, beating 171 made in 1890 by H. R. Blaker v. I Zingari; the same score of 171* was made in 1882 v. Charterhouse by F. T. Higgins.

The music chosen for the Abbey Services at Election is as follows:—

THE FIELDS.

WESTMINSTER v. I ZINGARI.

PLAYED Up Fields on June 6, and resulted in a draw in our favour. Logan, on winning the toss, sent in Crowe and Lane-Claypon to face the bowling of Lambton and Webbe. In the second over Webbe got Lane-Claypon caught at cover-point. Coleby joined Crowe, and the two made a splendid stand, bringing the total to 125 before Crowe was caught and bowled by Goodden for a fine innings of 85. Walters only scored a single before he was bowled by Lacey, and Logan joined Coleby, who was playing very steady cricket. With the score at 158, Logan was well caught by Paine at extra-cover for 23.

Gardner and Coleby then made another fine stand, adding 137 before Coleby's good innings came to an end. Gardner left with the total at 285, having played a very bright innings of 80. The rest did not do much, and with the score at 309 for seven wickets the innings was declared closed.

I Zingari were left with two and three-quarter hours' batting, and Spens and Goodden were sent in to oppose Powers and Hepburn. Runs came rapidly, and with the score at 40 Gardner went on for Powers and Fleuret for Hepburn. Off Fleuret's first ball Spens was magnificently caught by Logan in the country, and off his fourth ball Goodden was also caught by Logan. The third wicket fell with the score at 106, Fleuret clean bowling Browning. Bircham and Lacey then brought the score to 136 before Bircham was taken in the slips by Logan off Powers. Paine and Lacey put on 50 runs for the fifth wicket, and when stumps were drawn the score stood at 252 for six wickets.

WESTMINSTER vs. CHARTERHOUSE.

Played Up Fields on Friday and Saturday, June 26 and 27. Logan won the toss, and sent in Coleby and Crowe to face the bowling of Branston and Allen. The innings started badly for us, Coleby being caught in the slips when the score stood at 7. However, on Logan's coming in the score rose steadily, till at 30 Tetley went on instead of Allen. Logan and Crowe took the score to 70, when Crowe was caught at short-leg off Hooman, who had taken Branston's place. He had made 40 in about three-quarters of an hour. Walters now came in, and Snell went on for Tetley. The score was raised to 95 before Logan (41) was taken in the slips off Branston (who had gone on again). The catch was much like the one which dismissed Coleby. Gardner came in, and the 100 went up shortly after 1 o'clock. Gardner was out soon afterwards, caught off Allen in the slips, the score standing at 112. Fleuret and Walters took the score to 121 before the lunch interval. Walters plied very steadily, but Fleuret was let off at the wicket when he had made 6.

Play began again at 2.25, Branston and Allen bowling. At 131 Walters was bowled by Branston, having played a very steady innings of 30. Bonser and Fleuret added 17 before Fleuret was caught by Snell off Branston for 22. One hundred and fifty was up at 3 o'clock. At 165 Bonser was bowled by Allen, and Powers joined Kirkpatrick. Powers had the bad luck to be stumped off Fry's pads before scoring. The innings soon closed, Colt-Williams being bowled in his first over, and Kirkpatrick, after some vigorous hitting, being caught and bowled by Allen. The Westminster total was 170. Branston took four wickets for 62, Allen three for 47, and Buchanan two for 3, the remaining wicket falling to Snell.

The Charterhouse innings started at 3.45. Branston and Payne opened their innings, Powers and Fleuret bowling. Branston was twice let off at the wicket, and the score rose steadily. At 30 Hepburn went on for Powers and Gardner for Fleuret. At 44 Branston was easily caught by Kirkpatrick off Gardner, having made 21. Next came Hooman, who played steadily, while Payne did most of the scoring. The total was 74 when Payne was caught and bowled by Powers in trying to pull one to leg. He had made 37. Bence-Pembroke now arrived, but Hooman was out 4 runs later, after batting for half an hour for 7. The next man, Buchanan, after making two good strokes off Fleuret, was bowled by Powers, the score standing at 89. Cripps came in next, and had the misfortune to play on off Hepburn without scoring (5 for 92). Growse and Bence-Pembroke now got together and made a good stand, the score rising to 132 before Bence-Pembroke, sending a hard one straight up the pitch, was finely caught and bowled by Crowe. He had played a vigorous innings of 33. Snell was soon bowled by Gardner. Neither Allen nor Tetley stayed long, and the innings closed for 156, Growse leaving last, caught by Powers off Gardner, for 38. Powers took four for 47, and Gardner three for 30, while Fleuret, Crowe, and Hepburn took one each for 27, 16, and 11 respectively.

There was still a quarter of an hour before time when Westminster started their second innings. Walters and Bonser went in to play out time. Bonser was luckily missed at the wicket off Branston's first over. No wicket fell, and Westminster had made 6 when stumps were drawn.

On Saturday morning, at 11.35, Bonser and Walters resumed the innings, Buchanan and Allen bowling. At 11.40 Branston went on for Buchanan. Bonser was missed again by Hooman at mid-on off Allen. With the score at 28 Bonser was caught by Buchanan in the slips off Allen. Crowe now joined Walters. These two carried the score to 52, Crowe doing almost all the scoring. He hit out especially towards the end of his innings, and had the good luck to be missed twice by Hooman and Payne. However, with the score at 82, he was grandly caught in the deep-field by Growse, the fieldsman having to run almost into the chairs before securing the catch. Coleby now came in, and 14 runs later Walters was bowled by Allen for a patient innings of 31. He only gave one chance, and that was at point off the ball before that which bowled him. Logan and Coleby brought the 100 up. The lunch interval over Coleby and Logan resumed the innings. Coleby soon left, caught in the slips again, with the score at 112. With only 2 runs added Logan was out, and half the wickets were down for 114. Gardner and Kirkpatrick took the score to 142, Gardner hitting out and scoring a 6 off Allen. At 142 Kirkpatrick left. Fleuret came in only to be bowled first ball by Buchanan (7 for 142). Powers hit a 4 and was then bowled by Allen, while Colt-Williams was bowled without scoring. The score stood at 150 for 9 when Hepburn joined Gardner. However, Hepburn kept his end up well while Gardner did some good hitting, so that the pair managed to put on 30 for the last wicket, of which Gardner made 29. At 180 the innings closed, Gardner being caught by Bence-Pembroke off Branston for a fine innings of 53. Allen had the best analysis with five wickets for 51.

Charterhouse went in at 3.30 with 195 to get to win. The start was sensational, and gave Westminster great hopes of winning, Payne being bowled by Powers' third ball, and Branston in Powers' second over. Two wickets were thus down for 10, and their two most dangerous bats, judging from this season's form, were dismissed. Cripps and Bence-Pembroke now got together. Bence-Pembroke was missed at the wicket when he had only made 5. After this escape he and Cripps settled down, and in spite of numerous bowling changes took the score to 115 before Cripps was run out off a magnificent bit of fielding by Fleuret. Bence-Pembroke had now made about 60. Buchanan joined Bence-Pembroke, and the score reached 159 before Powers bowled the former for 16. Charterhouse now wanted only 34 to win and 6 wickets to fall, and things seemed hopeless for Westminster. Bence-Pembroke and Hooman carried the score on steadily, and at 6.25 Charterhouse had won by six wickets. Bence-Pembroke played a fine innings of 103 not out, and undoubtedly won the match for Charterhouse. He had luck in being missed by Coleby, and he gave another chance to Powers when he had made 81, but otherwise he made no mistake. The finish was exceedingly disappointing to Westminster, more especially so after Powers' brilliant bowling at the beginning of the innings.

The Charterhouse team are heartily to be congratulated on their victory, which they thoroughly earned by their determined up-hill fight in the second innings.

WESTMINSTER v. OXFORD UNIVERSITY
AUTHENTICS.

Played Up Fields on Saturday, June 20, and, ended in a draw.

The Authentics brought down a strong side, and, winning the toss, sent in Lee and Craig to face the bowling of Powers and Hepburn. Runs came slowly, but it was not till Gardner went on for Hepburn that a separation was made, Lee being caught and bowled by Gardner. Donaldson and Benedict made a good stand for the fourth wicket, and the total eventually reached 278 for 9 wickets, when the innings was declared closed. The School were left with two and a half hours in which to get 279, and from the start it appeared impossible to knock them off. Crowe and Coleby opposed the bowling of Lorraine and Craig. Runs came quickly—mostly off Craig—till at 47 Crowe was caught at extra-cover by Page off Lorraine. Lane-Claypon joined Coleby, but was clean bowled by Twiss before he had scored. Rawlings and Coleby brought the score to 61 before the former was out to a bad stroke. On being joined by Logan Coleby immediately left, having been batting eighty minutes for 18. Gardner hit a 5 and a 3, and then was bowled by Lorraine. Of the rest Kirkpatrick and Walters made runs and enabled us to draw the match.

WESTMINSTER v. WEST KENT.

Played Up Fields, on Saturday, July 4, and resulted in a win for the School by 111 runs. Logan, winning the toss, sent in Crowe and Coleby to open for the School at 12 o'clock, facing the bowling of Roberts and Murray. With the score at 31 Crowe was caught, having made 20 in twenty minutes. Logan then went in, and at 12.30 the 50 went up; 15 runs later Longhurst, who went in instead of Roberts, bowled Coleby with his first ball. Rawlings and Logan then scored rather more freely, and the 100 was signalled at 1.10; fifteen minutes later Logan completed his 50. At the luncheon interval the score stood at 142, Logan and Rawlings being not out 59 and 23 respectively.

At 2.20 play was resumed, Longhurst and Berens bowling, and half an hour later the 200 went up, and Logan completed his century. After this Logan scored more freely, and added 26 before being caught by Curwen off Roberts; the third wicket had put on 180 runs.

Logan's fine 127, which took 105 minutes to make, contained 16 fours and 7 threes. He gave a difficult one-handed chance to Severn at mid-off when he had made 31.

With the score at 245 Gardner went in, but only scored 15 before being bowled by Severn. Kirkpatrick took his place at the wickets, and 30 runs were added before Rawlings was caught by Severn off Roberts, having been at the wickets two hours for his 84, which contained 8 fours and 4 threes. Kirkpatrick and Powers then carried the score to 321, and, on the former being l.b.w. to Longhurst, Logan declared the innings closed.

Blackwood and Ferguson opened the visitors' innings at 4.5 against the bowling of Powers and Hepburn, and 78 runs were scored before Ferguson was bowled by Fleuret for 40. With Dixon in the 100 was signalled before he was well caught by Kirkpatrick off Crowe. Wickets then fell quickly, and with the score at 166, Blackwood was bowled by a good ball from Powers, having made 71 by attractive cricket. With the exception of Bonham-Carter, who was not out 33 at the close, the remaining batsmen were got rid of cheaply. The innings closed for 210. Powers got 5 wickets for 71, Crowe 4 for 31, and Gardner and Fleuret 1 each.

House Notes.

COLLEGE.—In the first place we heartily congratulate Crowe on his 'Pinks,' and on his fine play in the Charterhouse match, which won him the Pashley Cup for batting. We also congratulate Trench on appearing for the School v. Free Foresters, and on his College colours, and Philby on playing v. Old Carthusians. We look forward with great interest to the 'Town Boy' match; if our team can only keep fit through this trying fortnight we have hopes of repeating our victory of two years ago. We are glad to see that attention has at last been paid to the captains' tablets, and that there is a keenness among leaving Seniors to paint up their names on the boards in the various rooms. Our Juniors succumbed to Rigaud's after a good game, and seem at the time of writing likely to beat H.B.B. The Literary Society has read 'The Rivals,' and at the last meeting of the year, on July 10, selections were read. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

We conclude these notes with best wishes to all, Major Candidates and others, in their coming exams. Our heartiest congratulations to Rawlings and Walters, who, we hear as we go to press, have got their 'Pinks.'

GRANT'S.—First and foremost we must congratulate L. G. Kirkpatrick on getting his 'Pinks' after the Charterhouse match. Besides Logan, no other Grantite was played. The destruction of Great College Street goes on apace, and we are disturbed by hammers and crowbars every hour of the day. However, everyone is glad to see the demolition of the hideous red house which has now for many years looked down upon yard. We are drawn against Rigaud's for the House matches. We shall be without R. E. Tanner, who is up for an army examination, in which we wish him all success.

We congratulate E. C. Cleveland-Stevens on winning a History Scholarship at Christ Church.

RIGAUD'S.—Since last number our Juniors have defeated College, in spite of misfortunes, and they have made a good beginning against Ashburnham. Congratulations to Fleuret on regaining his 'Pinks,' and to Hepburn on his 'Pink and Whites.' We are glad to be able to keep the Pashley bowling cup up the House for another year. We are drawn against Grant's in the Seniors, and rely upon our bowling to save us; our batting is hardly what it should be. We hope for better luck than has been our lot of late years. Seddon appears to have been the most successful shot at present in the School. We congratulate him on passing his Smalls.

H.BB.—Former members of the House must be congratulated on various honours that have befallen them: B. G. Brown on his Historical Tripos, P. T. Browning on Science Tripos, and A. R. Brailey and H. B. McCaskie on passing their Medical examination. We offer our heartiest congratulations to C. Kent on being the first Old Westminster for many years to have gained his Leander colours. Our congratulations are also due to Oppenheimer on passing the L.U.M. Our Juniors have been most unsatisfactory, being beaten by Ashburnham by four wickets. Davies gave a fine display in the first innings, making 25 (not out) of a total of 53; Vincent bowled very well throughout, and made 41 in the second innings. At the moment of writing College have practically beaten us. House fives ties are progressing slowly; we have beaten Grant's in the second round of the Inter-House fives (15-13) (6-24) after long and exciting games. Vernon has got into the final of the School racquet ties.

Corfield has been made a monitor, and is also to be congratulated on his House colours. We shall lose Ryan next term, as he is going up College; Longhurst and Massingham have had their exhibitions increased. We congratulate them all.

ASHBURNHAM.—We hope by the time this appears to have qualified for the final of the House matches by defeating H.BB. Our Juniors have beaten H.BB., and lost after a good game to Rigaud's.

House racquet ties have been started and appear popular. Our only representative in the School racquet ties was ignominiously defeated in the first round.

We are glad to see that the Phillimore Essay prize has been won by Colvile.

On the Saturday of the Charterhouse match we received a present of strawberries; they were excellent, and it is a matter for congratulation that the health of the House did not suffer from their consumption.

We condole with Cambridge on the absence of Harris from the team in the 'Varsity match.

Obituary.

WE have to record the death of an octogenarian, who was present as a Town Boy at the Coronation of William IV., and as a Queen's Scholar at that of Queen Victoria. GEORGE HENRY PRESTON, born in 1823, entered the School three days after the death of George IV., and was in the last election of King's Scholars before the accession of Victoria. He was ordained in 1846, and after holding various curacies was for some years chaplain at Rio de Janeiro. He died at Earl's Barton on June 8.

LAMPROBATIC.

To the Editor of 'The Elizabethan.'

DEAR SIR,—Like your correspondent 'T.B.' I was puzzled by the definition of the term 'Lamprobat' in Captain Markham's book.

From 1874 to 1880 the match was a cricket match played between the Under Elections and the Town Boys below the Shell.

I suggest that the match between the XI. and the VIII. must have ceased when 'Water' was discontinued between 1867 and 1872, and that the match as I remember it was substituted. Reference to the ledgers would probably clear up the point. In my time the match was commonly spoken of as 'Lamprobat' in the plural; the real meaning of the word was never satisfactorily explained.

Yours, &c.,

W. A. PECK.

To the Editor of 'The Elizabethan.'

DEAR SIR,—You have probably had several answers to 'T.B.'s' question in your last number, but in case you have not, it may interest you to know that in the period 1868-1875 'Lamprobat' meant the match between the Under-Elections (Second Elections and Juniors) and T.BB. not in the XI.

Has a satisfactory derivation for the term ever been discovered?

I am, yours sincerely,

W. H. A. COWELL.

St. Edward's School, Oxford.

In answer to 'T.B.'s' letter, which appeared in the last number of the ELIZABETHAN, and to those of the two correspondents on this subject in the present number, may I be permitted to say that a study of the ledgers shows beyond all doubt that the Lamprobat match was originally, that is to say when we first hear of it, 'An annual (cricket) match between the K.SS. and T.BB. who had not taken part in the Grand match.' (This is taken from the T.B. cricket ledger, 1833.) The match was started before the year 1806, for at the beginning of the K.S. ledger at that date mention is made of the 'Lamprobat' ground in the rules relating to the K.SS. and T.BB. match. It would seem to have been played regularly from that date.

In 1844, when the numbers of the T.BB. were very low, it was agreed that those 'T.BB. under the Upper Shell who could play cricket should play in the Lamprobat match, whether they had played in the Grand match or not.' And again in 1850, 'the rule that no Upper Elections and no T.BB. above the Under Shell should play was not adhered to.' In consequence of this 'two or three Seniors who generally went on Water, and one or two head T.BB. (including the Head of Fields), played.'

From these entries in the ledger I conclude that the match was originally what may be termed a 2nd XI. match between the K.SS. and T.BB. When the numbers of the T.BB. became so small that they could hardly raise a second team of any sort to oppose the Q.SS., and so were beaten year after year till the match lost all interest, it was thought advisable to let T.BB. below the Shell play, even if they had played in the Grand match. Possibly this arrangement was not found to work well,
